
The Nine Master Gifts

THE GEO 2 HANDBOOK

Oliver Niño

SEPTEMBER 2026

Contents

Read This First.....3

Part One: How Master Gifts Work.....4

Part Two: The Nine Master Gifts.....14

Gift Zero: World Healers.....15

Gift One: Elementals.....19

Gift Two: DNA Activators and DNA Healers.....23

Gift Three: Portal Openers.....27

Gift Four: Angelic Realm.....33

Gift Five: Mother Nature Embodiers.....38

Gift Six: Lemurian Energy.....42

Gift Seven: Projectors.....46

Gift Eight: Spiritual Activators.....51

Part Three: Reference.....56

Builder’s Note.....60

Read This First

This handbook is built from what I have actually taught in the GEO 2 master gift reveals, the virtual events, and the GEO 2 calls over the years. It covers the nine master gifts I activate on day one of the GEO 2 activation weekend and reveal by number at the end, in the order I call them out:

0. World Healers
1. Elementals
2. DNA Activators, also called DNA Healers
3. Portal Openers
4. Angelic Realm
5. Mother Nature Embodiers, or Gaia
6. Lemurian Energy
7. Projectors
8. Spiritual Activators

It also covers the GEO 2 modalities those gifts run through, mainly group healing with the energetic body and the spiritual gift activation, because you cannot really practice a master gift in GEO 2 without them.

I want to be honest about why this exists. I told a group that a lot of these gifts are not written about anywhere, a lot of it is unique to each person, and a lot of it you have to experience to see what it is. I said I had to keep a fine balance, because I do not want you to intellectualize the gift. I want you to energetically embody it, and the mind almost has to give up trying to figure it out. That is still true. So read this the way it is meant to be used.

Read Part One once, all the way through. Then read your own chapter. Then, after a week or so, read the others. There is a reason I do not hand everyone all nine at once on reveal day. The mind goes, I really want that one, not this one, and that slows down you embodying the one you got. I went through that myself. Give your gift a few days, a week, to sink in, and then go explore.

And do not turn this into a manual. What you know about a gift, what I know about a gift, is probably less than one percent of what is there. This handbook shows you the patterns I have seen so you can recognize your own. It is a map. The territory is time under the frequency of your gift.

Part One: How Master Gifts Work

What a master gift is

When I talk about master gifts I am talking about a second set of gifts, a whole other group from the six primary gifts in GEO 1. I said it plainly: the master gifts are a whole other group of gifts. Channel, transmuter, psychic, healer, Akashic, weather and technology, those are the primary gifts. World healer, elemental, DNA, portal opener, angelic realm, Mother Nature embodiment, Lemurian, projector, spiritual activator, those are the master gifts.

Here is the honest history. I did not know there were master gifts until I taught GEO 2 for the first time. I thought there were only five gifts, then there were six. Then I started doing GEO 2 classes and realized there were more. They did not show up as a beginner focus because a master gift requires so much more energy, and it is very rare that somebody who has not done the work can access all of it. They would implode. So it was a step up. And I have no doubt there are more. I think I am still scratching the surface. More becomes available as humanity grows. Right now, these nine are what I am able to access.

Where does a master gift live? It lives in a part of you that you might have forgotten. It is your authentic self, the version of you before you closed off, before you were guarded. That inner authentic self is where the master gift typically exists, and the higher gifts too. That is why accessing them can feel like a battle, and it is why we do not start with master gifts. With any gift you have to rise to the occasion to handle it. If a gift was accessible before life happened to you, then there is a lot of healing and unearthing to get back there.

You have had your master gift since you were born. It operates whether you are aware of it or not. It is the part of you nobody could dim down, the part nobody could take away, the light inside of you. If you ever felt different in life, if you just knew you were meant for more, no matter how soft and tiny that feeling was, that is your essence. The purpose of GEO 2 is to grow that until the whisper becomes louder and louder and it just becomes who you are.

Primary and master, and why you focus on one

The question I get first in almost every reveal is: do we have all the master gifts, and do we have to develop the others? I answered it this way, and I said it was the first time I had actually verbalized it.

The one you got today is the only one you focus on right now. I understand the question, because I am wired exactly that way. But a gift, as you know from GEO 1, you can scratch the surface or you can go deep. If you scratch the surface on each one, it will not expand your vibration enough, and you will tap into maybe one percent of what each can do instead of ninety to a hundred percent. When you go deep in one master gift, it stretches your vibration so that all the others become easier. The path to all the other gifts is not exploring all of them. It is going deep with one. The key to all is to go through one.

If this master gift is what showed up for you, it is probably the easiest, the most natural, the fastest one, and the one you are going to need. Your group was not random. There is more you are naturally able to access in that space, and you have probably been doing it since birth.

Does that mean you do not have the others? No. I explained that when I do the master gift activation I am not saying “do one.” I am saying do whatever is for the highest good, and I have no control over how many or which. The thing I focus on is the primary one, the one that for some reason you need to focus on now. People have multiple master gifts. When you are juggling what the priority is, one will always rank as primary over the other. It is just a ranking system.

And I put a spoiler out there so the mind could relax. A lot of you have a lot of the primary gifts and a lot of the master gifts. The gifts you heard other people have that you really want, you most likely have them. If you have an affinity to it, a pull to it, there you go, you have it. Can you access it? That is another question. It is not about having it. It is about whether you are willing to do the work so that, vibrationally, what you used to access you can access again.

The master gift moves

The primary master gift is fluid, the same way the primary gift is in GEO 1. I described it like this. Primary and master are just a way of saying this is the one you are supposed to explore right now. I have seen them shift over time. You dive into this master gift for a month, three or four months, five months, a year, whatever is energetically required, and then you are done with it, and another master gift comes in that was already there but dormant. By practicing this one, by accepting it, it built you to the frequency where you can step into the next. It is the gateway, whether you like it or not, whether you resonate with it or not, whether you know what it is or not. Your soul and higher power know ahead of time what your journey is and what you are going to need, factoring in things that have not even happened yet. Your human mind goes, why is this needed? Your soul goes, oh, you’ll see.

A student asked how her new master gift connected to her GEO 1 primary. Sometimes they are connected and sometimes they are not. You might do grocery shopping, a video call, and an Excel sheet in one day. They do not all have to connect. Sometimes they do, and there is overlap. I gave her a transmuter and angelic realm example. When you transmute running it through your human story, you get drained. When you use the master gift, you outsource it to the angelic realm, they do the transmuting with you, and that becomes the fuel source. Next thing you know you are not carrying all of it yourself.

I also told that group that primary gifts are kind of one dimensional, and master gifts have a lot of range in them. Some people start seeing their master gift access primary gifts they never had. That is the nature of master gifts. In that vibration more is accessible. And in GEO 2, with all the advanced sacred geometry we do, it is not always sequential. Doing one can simultaneously affect all the others.

The master gift is a bigger hit

If I were to measure master gift frequency against primary gift frequency, I would say it is several folds times over. When you are exposed to that intense a vibration, it can cause an intense purge, fast, with little tolerance. It flushes out any block, big ones and very subtle ones. So when people say, I got my master gift and I got set off, that is totally normal.

This is why the GEO 2 weekend is built the way it is. We clear and heal before the master gift, because when it comes it takes you up high, and it is good to have released as much as you can first. I told a group that when people start practicing their master gifts they access the highest vibration they have had to date, and it pushes them into a new space automatically. That is often the shift from the human story healing part of this journey into the fun part, where the past and the trauma you came in with in GEO 1 are no longer the focus and it becomes pure exploration of potential, purpose work, how fast you can manifest.

What comes up, and why it comes up

I spent a whole lesson on this once, so I want to give it room.

When the master gifts come up, it fleshes out the last layers of thinking and programming that have been holding you back. When you step into your master gift you are making a decision: do I repeat my human story, or do I accept my divine one? A part of you knows that. People think that if you embrace the divine story it is the death of the human one, that you will lose who you are, lose your connections, lose everything near and dear. That could not be further from the truth. If that were the case, my family members, my sisters, my loved ones would not be where I am today. What happens is that when you push through, you free and liberate everyone around you.

What I see come up most is worthiness and imposter. Who am I to handle this gift? Who am I to have this gift when I have done these bad things? Who am I when my parents told me I was flawed, inadequate, that I would not amount to anything? Gifts like that do not come to people like me. I hear that all the time. When it comes up, I hold space for it, and I also smile, because things like that do not come up unless they are ready to drastically heal.

Think about it like the iceberg memes. The tip is the you that you are conscious of. Under the water is everything you are unconscious of: unconscious gifts, unconscious programming, things holding you back that you do not even know are there. Activations pull you higher, and when they pull you higher they pull the shadow part up to where the light can hit it. When it first comes up it has every inkling of being set off, because every time it came up in the past it never got resolved. Somebody pissed you off, it came up, it attacked or protected, and it went back down. That has been the pattern of our lives. Now it is coming up because it is ready to be seen, understood, loved, and integrated, and when it does, that wounded part comes back to oneness and wholeness and all the energy comes back to you.

And here is the part people miss. We think the portion of us that has light is the portion that holds the gifts. Nope. The portion of us that is wounded, the part that had the things we experienced as a child, that has most of our gifts. That is why accessing gifts has been so difficult for people.

So when something comes up during a clearing or an activation as you step into your master gift, lovingly step back and ask: this is coming up now, so it is relevant, it is ready for me to look at, I am in a strong enough environment and vibration to handle it. When did this even start?

What was the inception point? If it is coming up with a master gift, it has probably been there as long as you can remember and it is probably affecting every area of your life.

Two things can be true at once

You can be a master healer with gifts and still have childhood wounds, still feel guarded at times, still feel insecure, still compare, still feel jealous. You can still be human. Your ability is not riding on your belief, and it is not riding on your confidence, because that is not where gifts operate. Gifts operate from the soul, energetically, from intention.

I have met a lot of the most skilled healers and most gifted people, and a lot of them have limiting beliefs in the mind. They could cure something incurable one day, and the third day something happens and they feel unconfident and unworthy. I have people tell me, Oliver, I am just learning how to heal, I still do not know this and that, and then they tell me a story from a year ago, five years ago, ten years ago, where they just prayed for someone and put their hands on them and that person healed. And I say, you are right, you are not a healer, in your mind. In your being, in your soul, in your heart, you can do it in your sleep.

The mind is always going to be last to align. If you are going to deal with the mind anyway, you might as well deal with it from a high vibration, with good things happening around you. My own mind lost its footing for several years now. Where I am is very foreign, and I am still in my infancy. The way it feels is like a spaceship leaving Earth. The mind goes, I do not need to know how to operate the spaceship. There are astronauts with the checklist. I am just buckled up and along for the ride.

Lineage carriers

I want to include this because I first named it to a GEO 2 group,, and you may recognize yourself in it. It is not one of the nine master gifts. I said myself it does not sound like a gift. I call it the lineage carriers.

A lineage carrier is somebody who takes on all the pain of the past. When they are young, whether they know it or not, their little soul's goal on this planet is: I will heal my generation, I will heal everything before me, I will heal everything after me, I will heal everything around me. Because of that, they experience so much darkness and depth in life, and they do not understand why life has been so intense for them.

Here is my own version of it. I grew up in a household that never felt safe. My dad was erratic. You could never predict the outbursts. My mom was the peacekeeper, telling us to give him a kiss on the cheek before we left, eat lunch with him, do nothing to disappoint him. I could not be me. I had my guard up, always bracing for impact. And what I realize now is that, unconsciously, in an effort to heal my dad, I took on his pain, his insecurities, his stories, his phobias. Later in life I went, a lot of this is not even mine. Why does this sound to a T like what my dad went through? I worked on it in myself, and it affected all my sisters. That was my way as an empath of trying to heal the family.

If that is you, I told that group what I will tell you. Once you know the weight you are carrying, you can say, I am definitely underpaid and underloved and undersupported for this big role. I need a raise. And you can give yourself permission to breathe, permission to rest, permission to retire. You can set it down for a while, with no guilt and no shame. You are not the armor, you are not the shield, you are not the sword, you are not the mask, you are not the role. You do not have to produce to be loved.

The practice is time under the frequency

Someone asked whether practicing the gift expands your knowledge of it. Here is how I see knowledge of a gift. There is frequency based knowledge, energetic knowledge, knowledge held in the body, grounded knowledge down to the cellular level, and lastly the thing your brain and your two eyes can verify, the logical piece. The logical piece is maybe point zero zero one percent of the importance. What matters is time under the frequency where the master gift exists.

Think about a hard drive, two terabytes, five terabytes. When you transfer information onto it, it just transfers. You can look at the folder names, but if there are thirty thousand files you do not know the name of each one or what is in it. It is still there, and you can access it any time. That is what spiritual gifts are. It is data being transferred and activated in you. When you are under that frequency, that exchange happens, and it unfolds in your life that day, that night, that week, your whole lifetime. When the gift starts to express itself a day later, a month later, a year later, it is because of the initial activation. The more you revisit that vibration, the shorter the lag time.

So the slowest way to learn your master gift is reading about it, researching it. The fastest way is time under the vibration where it exists. I told a group: do not let it be, oh, I learned it, I tried it, and that's about it. Connect with your master gift every single day. Once in the morning, once before you go to sleep. Can I connect, can I connect. And next thing you know it starts happening throughout the day as you need it.

And: keep doing what is working, and add this on. The biggest mistake people make is finding what works and then stopping. I did that a lot too. Stack your master gift onto what already works before you make it the only thing.

Practice it together

Master gifts that occur in a group are amplified. That is why on reveal day I put each number in its own breakout room. Around people with similar gifts, things activate much faster, like a ping pong effect. When you find the projectors in the room and hang out with them, everything activates even further.

I explained that you do not even have to coordinate. When you practice a master gift, it operates on a wavelength, a band, a frequency. By practicing it together, without saying a word, you are already connected. When we used to do events in person, people would hold hands, or form a sacred geometry, and that was all they needed.

The first days and weeks

Master gifts take time to land. I told someone who felt disconnected from her gift that it is extremely normal, and I would say thirty to forty percent of people go through it. I went through the same thing: I want this, I want that, this is what my mind thinks it should be. It is like university. There are your favorite classes, and the ones that are not your favorite, and spiritual gifts are not about what is exciting all the time. They are about what is needed for your purpose and your highest intentions, including things you are going to experience that you do not even know about yet. It is like wanting a certain job, house, or college and getting a different one. There is an adjustment period. If you need to be upset, do not judge yourself. That is probably something coming up to be cleared.

My own version of this: when I was first learning gifts and master gifts, deep down I knew, everything in my life said I was that, and I was never given validation right away. I questioned myself. Did I get it wrong? Later it dawned on me and it was verified that I had it. In that period I needed to practice core values, and one of them was patience. Watch every movie where somebody wants to know their power and rushes it with no core values and no prep. It is crash and burn almost every time. Even to this day I would say I have a bit of patience. A bit.

Physically, here is what to expect. When master gifts first activate they are in the crown and the third eye, so by definition you will be less grounded for a while. Top heavy, crown big, root small. I compared it to anesthesia at the dentist: your gums are numb, you cannot feel the water dribbling out, and you do not have to do anything, over time the feeling comes back. Vertigo, a racing heart, nausea, headaches, being floaty: what you are doing is working. You do not drink coffee for energy and then take melatonin because you have too much energy. And in 2025 I said that for the two or three weeks after an activation, most of your energy is being used to process and acclimate, so it is not your true bandwidth yet. Wait before you try the most advanced, intense things.

And the dip at the end. I noticed GEO 2s often dip energetically toward the end of the program, and people tell me the break between GEO 2 and GEO 3 was intense, because a lot happens after the container closes. That is why I started doing an extra activation on the way up.

The GEO 2 modalities the gifts run through

Every master gift practice I give on reveal day has the same second half. I want you to know it well, because it is how you will use your gift on others.

Group healing and the energetic body

Imagine an energetic body in front of you. Some days I call it an energetic silhouette or an energetic container. Set the intention, God, higher power, universe, that everybody in this container, for the highest good, be put in this energetic body. Then you apply your gift to the whole body at once.

Someone asked how it works mechanically. Say the throat came up in the group. The reason it shows up as the throat is that there are people in the group with throat issues, maybe eight out of fifteen. When you work on the throat, only the people who have that issue are affected. It registers as one, but it splits up to whoever has it. Everybody inside the container is protected in their own individual space, so there is no crossover of one person releasing and another person getting it. When you read the group, you are reading the summary of all the individuals.

How do you get a hundred or four thousand people in there? I walked through everything I have tried. I have read every name and put a merkaba on each one, and the first time it was four thousand names and took me thirty, forty minutes. I have looked at a crowd and asked angels, guides, and God to put everybody in. I have speed browsed an Excel sheet, eyes just grazing the lines, and the energy transfers. I have done it purely by intention: everyone on the Zoom, everyone in the chat, everyone watching the replay, and everybody else who is supposed to get this for the highest good that I do not know about. Each person goes in their own merkaba inside the energetic body, so the merkaba is also a protection mechanism. And if you forget, do not worry. I have checked with people who can see energy, and even when the practitioner forgets the merkaba, the person is still in one. At these levels it happens automatically.

When I started out I did not have the sacred geometry for groups. I did them the hard way: a room of fourteen people, and I cut the cords of one person, cleared them, then went to the next. One on one healing done fourteen times, hours and hours, and halfway through I was done. A few years later the geometry for groups came, and after that the number did not matter. Do as many as you can fill.

The spiritual gift activation

This is the protocol I teach in GEO 2 for activating the GEO 1 primary gifts in someone else. I do not teach the master gift activation in GEO 2.

The origin of it matters. When I first started doing healings on others I was not doing any conscious spiritual activation. For over ten years it was cutting cords and liquid gold, no rainbow, no spiritual activation. Halfway through my journey, people just started activating around me. I could not control it and I was not aware of it. It was not until I met Mandy that she said, do you know that everybody around you, after a short time, is activating? I was skeptical. Then I was in Sedona thinking, if I have this gift, I want to do it on demand, not randomly when I am talking to someone. That is when the geometry was channeled, because it could not just end with me.

The steps, as I taught them:

Do your pre healing routine, then gold. Gold for me is non negotiable before any healing, because I want things amplified and I do not want to use my own energy. Build the Metatron's Cube and make it the dot in the middle of the Sri Yantra. That combination opens a portal. Make it as big as you want; you just need to be inside the yantra, because the Metatron's Cube powers the yantra into a portal.

Bring spirals down through the portal and through the person. Five, or hundreds. The spiraling motion is what interacts with DNA, so as long as it spirals you are good, whether it looks like a spring or a DNA strand. Mine started purple and now they are any color, even red. My intention is that these are divine spirals awakening, at the DNA level, the spiritual gifts that are for the highest good to be awakened, releasing the blocks stopping them.

Leave the spirals there and bring down octahedrons, two pyramids back to back, ten or a hundred, spinning in opposite directions. When they spin they produce a very bright light. Bring them inside the person's energetic body. The spirals are still there so the light gets absorbed at the DNA level.

Then golden spheres, thirty or forty or a thousand, into the energetic body so everything is occupied. Gently tap them so the gold opens. Not explodes. Opens.

Leave it five, ten, twenty minutes. You will know when it is done. To close, take the whole thing, make it small, throw it up into the sky, and everything comes with it. Then the post healing routine for them and for you.

Why bother? Because there are two ways I have seen vibration rise. One is removing blocks. The other is activating and leaning into your gifts for the highest good. When you do that, it does not matter how many blocks you have. For that moment you are catapulted to a vibration where it is almost like you have none. That is why my staple has been the regular healing and then at least a spiritual activation. If I might not see someone again, I do all of it, clearing plus activation plus rainbow, because this is my only shot.

One warning I always give: do not learn the GEO 1 activation while you are in GEO 1. People try self activations every day because someone else seems more advanced, and with lag time it compounds. Burned out adrenals, loss of energy. The activation you got was the right amount for your journey.

Portals and merkabas inside every practice

You will see portals in almost every chapter, because so much of our geometry opens them. Metatron's Cube with the Sri Yantra opens a portal. Activation is an opening of a portal. A merkaba is a traveling mechanism: if I put someone in one, I am bringing their energetic body to me, so only they need to be in it, not me. And a vortex is different from a portal. A vortex is protection and containment; what you release goes down and stays within a certain proximity. A portal is access, energy and information traveling quickly from far away. If I want something karmic gone, far away, in a different time and space, I send it through a portal.

Sacred geometry is the training wheels

Every gift can be reverse engineered with sacred geometry and accessed with the right vibration. That is how I teach. I personally use sacred geometry to backwards engineer what people do naturally. If someone is an angelic healer doing it naturally, there is typically sacred geometry happening around it; they just do not know it because they are in the pure potency of using the gift. So do you need the geometry for your master gift? No. When it is your master gift, you do it with intention, or it just happens. I do spiritual activation without all the steps you are learning.

I called geometry a means to an end. Training wheels. It gives you a path to access the gift, magnify a healing, reach a vibration, protect yourself. You do it long enough that you remember the frequency, and then you get there without it. I compared it to a rose quartz. Someone new buys the crystal, feels its frequency, gets really good at it, and eventually the crystal goes away, because they can connect to the frequency directly. Same with activations. You do the geometry enough and the moment you think about doing it, it shows up as if you already built it.

New geometry may come to you during a master gift activation. In 2025 I said certain geometries show up for people depending on their master gift, uniquely relevant to it. If one comes and you do not know what it is, build it and be in it for the next seven nights and notice what shows up. If several keep coming, they are a prescription from your higher power; explore them once a week for thirty or ninety days. The meaning comes as you explore it. Give the Metatron's Cube to three hundred people and they will have three hundred experiences.

Vibration still decides

Master gifts are still vibration based. You can get all the steps to recreate a gift, and if you are not a vibrational match, nothing happens. That is the checks and balances. Someone asked about permission and misuse with Mother Nature energy, and I said master gifts only show up in this way for people who would not misuse them. When people misuse them, they cannot access them. If it is not meant for you to access, you simply will not be able to. And: the most amazing psychics go through life trauma, never heal it, and they no longer pull from the same place. I could drop in vibration tomorrow, and the things I can do now I would not be able to do. That is why I work a lot on myself.

Two practical consequences. First, a gift that felt huge in GEO 1 and feels quiet in GEO 2 is one of two things. Either your vibration is lower and it will come back when you raise it, or you have evolved your energetic operating system and the things you needed in GEO 1 are not needed now, but you still get the result. Look at the results. That is the distinction. Second, you will rarely feel everything. I said that when you are doing a healing you are aware of maybe one percent of what is happening. You called on higher power and guides, and the advanced geometry has its own consciousness. You come with a team.

Intention, and the team you come with

At higher levels it is all intention. I have had people heal before I did the healing I promised them, and I caught myself doing it anyway to honor my word. When you have done the work, you are connected to source, God, higher power, the archangel realm, councils, beings of light and love. You set an intention, the network hears it, and it is done. You become part of that ecosystem.

That is also why you do not need to be afraid of doing it wrong. Even if I forget a step, it is self corrected by the higher intelligence and beings present. With world healing, it is a concerted effort with God, higher power, and angels, and things that are not allowed to happen will not even show up. With projectors who worry they are too strong for someone, there are checks and balances you do not see, and if it is too much, it gets caught and fixed.

How I read your master gift

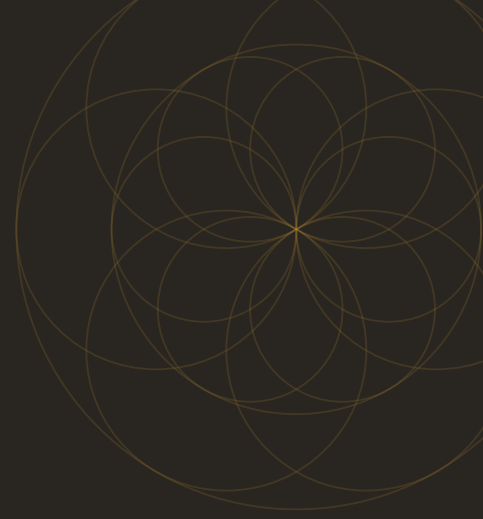

People ask how I know. For me it just pops in my head, and it is the first thing that pops in, not the second. Sometimes I scan. I said it is more Akashic, because you are cross referencing and checking in, but it can also be a channel. Someone asked if I have layers of reconfirmation. Typically it is the first one. I have done a lot of testing in the past to know that for me it is the first one. Sometimes a person has two master gifts that are close to each other and they kind of battle over which one they should know first. That one is trickier. But I go with the first one.

When I do activation healings on clients now, I often do not even know what the gift is, and a good amount of the time I do not tell them. The terminology is very GEO 1. I tell them I am working on whatever spiritual gifts are ready to wake up. If it comes to me loud and strong, I share it, sometimes weeks later.

PART TWO

The Nine Master Gifts

Nine expressions. One path of embodiment.

Gift Zero: World Healers

What it is

A world healer heals and transmutes for humanity. Your energy is naturally being used to heal more than just yourself. There is so much capacity to run healing energy through you, and you are connected to everything in the world, so a lot of energy can pass through you to help heal. Your capacity to heal is a lot. Your capacity to house potent energy is a lot.

This work is needed. People have to do it, or there is an imbalance. A world healer's energy is getting used and directed that way most of the time, during the day and at nighttime. What changes in GEO 2 is that you are stepping into being conscious of it.

Where it comes from

Here is the part I most want world healers to experience. When you do world healing, the energy does not come from the world. It comes from somewhere beyond that. That is why the first half of your practice is following the light all the way up, as far as you can, to access and experience where you pull world healing from.

A psychic who got world healer asked how her two gifts fit. Think about the energy centers. The crown is everything beyond this Earth. The psychic third eye is everything in the Earth. So the psychic gift becomes your point of connection to the people you are healing. You know who they are because you feel, think, or embody what they are feeling, and then you channel the world healing energy to the people you are connected to. The third eye is the pathway of understanding who you are impacting.

How it has been showing up your whole life

As kids, world healers are already doing group healing naturally, healing the world, a lot of the time unconsciously.

Whenever there is a world event or intense stuff happening in the world, you feel it. It affects you a lot.

A student told me that from a young age she felt she did not belong on this Earth, like she was from somewhere else. She had traveled the world for years and could not settle down, and did not know where home was. If you think about it, for a world healer the world is your home. It is what you work on. You are connected to a much bigger space, so you are not going to get the feeling of being at home anywhere, because it is more expansive than that. I have seen that with world healers. They travel a lot, they move a lot, they are trying to find home and they just cannot.

The doubt pattern

The doubt I hear most from world healers is that one person feels too small. A student, who was also doing work up through Polaris and gridding it down to Earth, asked how to use this when healing just one person, because it seemed trivial now compared to everyone.

The other doubt is the reverse: can I even do this, it is the whole world. A student asked me about permission, because you cannot ask the whole world. I come back to the same two things every time. You are sending love. And you are never doing it alone.

The 30 day practice

This is the practice I gave on reveal day, and the daily rhythm I give every master gift: connect every single day, in the morning and before you go to sleep, until it starts happening throughout the day on its own.

Bring light down, purple, and follow it all the way up. When you get up there, as far as you can, set the intention to access and experience the energy and where you pull world healing from. Bask in it. Notice what it is, where it is from, what it is like.

Then imagine an energetic body in front of you. Ask, for the highest good, that everybody in your container be put in it. On reveal day that is the GEO 2 container. Send love and world healing. Try it on the container first. If you want to venture out and you are called to do a little extra, do it for the world.

If your heart is closed, start here anyway. A student told me she feels everything so deeply in her heart that it becomes physical pain, and it is easier to shut her heart off. Sending love to the entire world is probably one of the fastest ways to open your heart, because that love has to run through you, and it does not feel too direct toward you because you are doing it third party. A lot of people start that way.

In a healing

World healing changes your one on one healings, and I explained why with a theoretical example. Say somebody has a tumor that needs two hundred million jolts of energy to fully rectify, if it is for the highest good that it rectifies. If your body is used to running ten or twenty million volts per healing on average, do the math. When you are a world healer and you stretch yourself to the limit of what is possible, you might be running fifty million, a hundred million, two hundred million, five hundred million volts in one healing. So when you do one on ones, you can house more, and the results show it. You will start noticing a correlation.

I gave the second way. While healing one person, set the intention, for the highest good, to also impact all the people connected to this person energetically. A person is not just a person. They are connected to other people, who are connected to others, and there is a huge ripple effect. Put the parameter of highest good of all on it and only things that can happen for the highest good will happen.

When it is unexpressed

A world healer whose energy is being used for the world all day and night, unconsciously, feels world events in the body and does not know why. The student whose heart ached to the point of physical pain had done a lot of unblocking, and her heart still felt closed. A lot of the time that is because there is so much capacity that it has to be used in the right fashion. If you feel you have removed all the blocks and your heart is still closed, you are probably tuning into a different reality of it, where it only opens to its full capacity when it is flowing for the world.

Parameters and boundaries

When you send to the world, you are sending love, and you do it with a huge team: God, higher power, angels, all facilitating. It is a concerted effort, so you can make no mistakes. Things are corrected before you even know they need to be corrected, and things that are not allowed to happen will not even show up, because you are in that container.

For anything beyond love, go through higher selves. In 2025 a student asked whether she could put her healing into the whole planet. For planet level work, I would stick to love. At a more advanced level, after your post activation week, you can set an intention that God, higher power, universe, only for those who cannot consciously decide, who are comatose or not in a conscious state of mind, if their higher self agrees it is for the highest good, receive rainbow energy. It is a bit taxing, and it is basically the only way to do it without violating free will.

What it looks like at higher levels

Manifestation. A lot of energy flows through you, and the more you can house energy, the more you can direct it for manifesting. Someone asked me to say more about this. One of my beliefs is that more flows to people who serve the world at the highest level. Think about the amount of energy that needs to flow through you to do a world healing. When it does, you are probably in one of the highest vibrations, with one of the biggest amounts of energy you will ever run, and manifestation is all about how much energy you can tap into and what vibration you are in for thoughts to turn into things. Just by virtue of using the gift, intentions start materializing.

And it does not stop at the world. I said that people with curiosity push the limit of what is possible. Instead of world healing, it becomes universal healing, karmic work for all beings across all space and time, for the highest good that you can handle. One day you are so tired you cannot even heal one person, and then you get into the right frequency and boom, something universal happens.

When I do world healing myself, it is a variety. Sometimes Flower of Life, sometimes just sending love, sometimes rainbow, sometimes I go up higher, open a portal, and send more love. Sometimes I go to a higher dimension so I can funnel more information. Think of the modalities as vehicles you can use alone, stack, or alternate.

Questions students ask

Is not feeling at home anywhere related to being a world healer? Yes. The world is your home.

How do I use it on one person? Bring more potency, and set the intention to reach everyone connected to them for the highest good.

Do I need permission to do a world healing? You are sending love, and you are doing it with a team. That is what makes it work.

Can a hands on healer run rainbow out to the world? Yes, at more advanced levels. Pay attention to your energy, especially in the two or three weeks after an activation, when most of it is processing.

Can I put my healing energy into the whole planet? Stick to love. The advanced version goes through the higher selves of those who cannot consciously decide.

What about the manifestation part? It is vibrational. The energy you run to heal the world puts you in a vibration where thoughts turn into things.

Stories from the room

One world healer was pulled to a window where the sun was shining and felt she needed to refuel her chakras. She started at the solar plexus and heart and kept being told to go down to the red. Then it took her through every chakra, one at a time. At the heart she had to stay fifteen minutes: burping, yawning, tears pouring only from her right eye with no crying on her face, and it would not let her move until she saw green. Then blue, and up.

Mentor Natasha's GEO 1 primary was transmuter, and her master gift is world healer. She told a GEO 2 room it took her a minute to sit with it, and then she realized it made so much sense.

The student who traveled the world without ever feeling at home finally had a reason.

1

Gift One: Elementals

What it is

Elemental energy is being able to use and tap into the deep healing wisdom and ancient healing of the elements. Earth, wind, fire, water. All the elements. The ground and the earth too.

What does it give you? When developed, the full force of the element. Fire can clear energy faster. Water can wash things away. And when you use it, you are not using your own energy. You are leaning on the energy of the element as it exists on Earth, so you can use as little or as much as is needed. You are leaning on something ancient that works really well.

It strengthens your healings. It is another modality to learn from. And it is a communication system: the elements carry knowledge and wisdom, and there are messages you can get from them.

Where it comes from

The elements have their own form of Akashics. That is how I look at it. There is wisdom and deep consciousness in them, and you can receive information. There is almost a deeper collective consciousness you can tap into and affect, from everyone in the world who is experiencing that element. Anyone with their feet on the earth. Anyone in the wind. Anyone in the water.

An Akashic student asked how the elements relate to her primary gift. Water holds the wisdom of everything in water. Fire, the same. Air, everything that flies, all the information. It is a different form of Akashic. The Akashic records can be Earth related but are primarily beyond Earth, where you might download a new sacred geometry or a modality that is not even here yet. The elemental Akashic is within the bounds of whatever interacts with the elements. I put it this way: there are multiple Akashics. There is the Akashic beyond Earth, the Akashic of Earth, the Akashic of deep wisdom in the Earth. The elements have been around since the beginning of time, so they hold ancient wisdom that has built up since the beginning of time. When you work with them you are accessing the Earth's own Akashic records.

Every element has its own consciousness, and so its own language and tone. A student channeled earth light language and then air light language, and her throat went very earthy, sounding nothing like what came through before. As you develop the gift you become more familiar with that language, more one with it. That is the goal.

How it has been showing up your whole life

You are always outside. Your hands are in the dirt. One elemental said the forest dirt is super grounding and she wished someone would make a candle that smells like it. Another said she drives with the windows down at eighty seven degrees, radio blasting, because she does not want to sit in the air conditioning.

Your body lights up in forests. You sing to the elements without thinking about it. On the lunch break, a student spontaneously sang a medicine song to the elements while walking her dog, and then used her drum and that song in the healing exercise.

You have been using the elements in healing without calling it that. A student who was disappointed at first, because she had her heart set on Lemurian, realized she had been using earth, fire, water, and wind intuitively since the pandemic started, to help heal people, even taking people to sacred places through astral travel.

The doubt pattern

Disappointment comes first for a lot of elementals. I want this, why did I get this. A student said it was quite unsettling at the start and she felt more connected to a different gift. That is normal. Thirty to forty percent of people go through it. Give it a few days or a week. She also realized, on her own, that she needed to get out of the house more, that she had been too much of a homebody with an elemental gift. Maybe that is the path. A master gift gets you to the next level you need, whatever is missing.

The second doubt is: which element, and how? I will come back to that in the practice.

And Mentor Kimberly's story belongs here. She was convinced she was angelic realm because she is so close to the angels, and she got elemental. Then she asked herself what else she is close to. The outdoors. She is outside all the time with her horses.

The 30 day practice

On reveal day: by intention, call forth the energy of an element. "I call forth the energy of the Earth." Imagine it going down or coming up. Feel it, whether you visualize the energy or visualize yourself in it. Then the next element. Earth, wind, fire, water, in whatever cycle or preference you want. The most important part is to notice how you feel when each one comes up. You will have one or two that you resonate with most, or that hit really hard. It is like playing with light therapy, where some colors hit harder than others.

Then the energetic body with your container, and bring whichever element you resonated with into further healing and activation of everyone's master gifts.

After the reveal, give each element a week. I said: can you do a week just focusing on the fire element, seeing what it does for your healings and your self healings, then a week of water, and so on? It is happening automatically with master gifts, but you might not know what it is. A week gives you time to learn what it is, what it is not, what is different.

If nothing jumps at you, do all of them. Play every night or during the day: let me play with fire and stay in it a few minutes. After a week you might feel water and air. The next week fire might turn out to be the one. And if one shows up first, start there. A student with water and air showing up asked whether she should work on the others. If you keep seeing 333, you do not go, should I work on 777? The ones showing up are your guide for where you are right now.

Bring it into daily life. I said: can you turn on the faucet, run water, and tune into it as it clears you a little? Can you sit by a fire and let it burn away what is blocking you? Can you go outside and, with every breath, ask, can I breathe in rejuvenating, loving, healing energy? Do the exercise in the shower or the bath. Feel the wind when you are outside. Sitting and meditating by a body of water works. Being around the elements speeds up mastery.

In a healing

You can call on the energy of a specific place. A waterfall you love, a lake in Mexico you love, a Fountain of Youth water somewhere, and use that energy for the person in front of you. It becomes one of the themes of the healing. The gift gets very specific that way.

On a client, at the beginning, go with your strongest element, unless something else shows up during the healing. That happens. Oh, I do not really work with this one, but it is showing up right now. Then use it.

It works better with the actual elements present. I have seen elementals do their healing while literally in water, or with a fireplace right there, or outside. The elements support you and also rejuvenate and heal.

Get creative with uses. Clearing, unblocking, activating, healing, cleansing. When you work on karmic stuff, you can use fire to burn it. Instead of cutting cords, burn everything you are attached to. If you feel you have too much energy, let the energy of water wash over you and cleanse.

And you can add the elements to gold. You needed the elements to build the gold, and once it is gold, it is just gold, but you can bring more of an element to it and amplify it, though as an elemental you already amplify the elements to the nth degree naturally.

When it is unexpressed

Honestly, I have not seen a clear pattern here yet beyond what that one student named about herself: too much time inside, too much homebody. If you are an elemental and you never go outside, start there.

Parameters and boundaries

Your gift reaches people who never gave you their name. Because the elements are everywhere, anywhere they are present you can gather information or affect people interacting with them, even on the other side of the world. I said that if you wanted to do a healing on, say, Israel, you could tap into the elements already occurring there. Use the same parameter you use everywhere: for the highest good of all.

What it looks like at higher levels

There are three levels. You receive the information. You use it in your modality as you practice. And you use it as a broad healing mechanism. Everyone affected by the wind, everyone on the earth, everyone in the water. You can send healing through mass distribution centers like this.

It becomes location healing too. I said the elements encompass the world, so you can do it beyond yourself, on land, on certain areas. And it is a very mass gift, because it is everywhere and envelops the entire world. The air they breathe.

Questions students ask

How do I use the elements in activations? Call on their energy or imagine it. At the beginning only a few will speak to you. Give each one a week.

What else can the elements do? Clearing, unblocking, activating, healing, cleansing, land and location work, and messages.

How does this work with my Akashic primary gift? The elements are their own Akashic, within the bounds of whatever interacts with them.

Should I bring physical elements into my healing space? You will probably do better with them present.

Do I keep my daily routine or replace it? Keep doing everything that works, and add the elements. It can eventually become the only thing. For now, stack it.

Is gold an element? A student asked Mentor Kimberly this. Gold was built from the elements in GEO 1; once built it is gold, and you can add elements to it.

Stories from the room

An elemental with her hands always in the forest dirt saw the seeds of a plant and all the DNA in them bursting out into the world. During the healings the elements came through as a vortex: water as the blood, wind pulling things away, roots going deep from everyone's feet. She gets symbols she cannot identify, some too three dimensional to draw, and keeps writing them down.

An elemental could shift each element from one to ten, and then with ether, from minus thousands to plus thousands, and suddenly there was so much space. She said she had always been a hard worker, and now she was doing less and less and more was happening.

Another thought of Captain Planet, where each kid had an element and together they were powerful. She does not always get visuals when I say freestyle, and the elements felt tactile. She called it the missing ingredient.

An elemental who had been seeing portals since GEO 1 opened a practice by the beach the same day as the activation. Mentor Kimberly told him both were showing up because both were important to him right now.

2

Gift Two: DNA Activators and DNA Healers

What it is

DNA is rich with information. When there are generational blocks or gestational blocks, they are trapped in the DNA. Physical conditions get passed on through it. When someone is having a hard time seeing, feeling, or even embracing their gifts, the DNA can be upgraded to help with that. A DNA activator, a DNA healer, works intensely with the DNA.

I said generational and gestational is one of the things, not all of it. Where is generational trauma stored? At the DNA level. That is why it gets passed. People call it cellular memory. If you can pass things genetically, you can pass them energetically. Any deeply rooted trauma in someone's life can get stored at the DNA level energetically. So can a physical condition. So can any potential we have as humans that we have not tapped.

I said the big ones are karmic, generational, gestational, and physical conditions. And I said a title. You can almost just say DNA healer. You work on blocks and trapped energy at the DNA level that can be passed on karmically, generationally, gestationally. What you do is more important than the title, but DNA healer explains what kind of healer you are and creates curiosity.

Where it comes from

This is a gift that sits close to spiritual activation. I said DNA activators are very much like spiritual activators in that so much happens unconsciously. Since day one of your healings, and I would argue day zero, you have been working on the DNA. Think of it as mirror and duplicate: whatever you work on in someone, on whatever level, automatically gets replicated at the DNA level. So in all your healings you have the ability to get to the root faster, because you go through the DNA, through all of the helix, and you capture the ancestral, karmic, generational, gestational, hereditary, deeply wounded blocks by the nature of going there.

Where does the energy come from? You can channel it. A channel who got DNA asked how they combine. When you are a channel, you can access higher, potent energy and direct it to the DNA specifically.

How it has been showing up your whole life

You have probably done it all your life without knowing. In your healings you are probably already working on the DNA. Your healings are a little harder hitting, or deeper, than most, because you go for the root instinctively.

People feel things after your healings they never felt before. A DNA activator said her practice partner told her she had never felt her hands so hot in a healing. That makes sense. When you work on DNA you are updating a lot of things, and you may be awakening psychic or energetic senses stored in the DNA that people could not feel before. Physical sensation showing up where it did not before is one of the signs.

Spirals follow you. A student who was disappointed at first looked back and found spirals everywhere in her life: photos she had taken years earlier in South Africa, worms, ferns, a sign with a spiral on it.

The doubt pattern

Disappointment is common here too. That same student was surprised it was not angelic, because she had felt in tune with angels since she was three. This does not mean you do not have that gift. If you have an affinity toward something, you are probably right that you have it. This is the one you are called to right now, and right now could be thirty days, ninety days, or less. In GEO 2 it is not one gift at a time like GEO 1. As you work on one, others develop on the sidelines.

The other doubt is: so many GEO 2 geometries already work at the DNA level, so how is this different? Kimberly answered a student who asked exactly that. It is in everything you do. You will be doing rainbow, and because it is natural to you, DNA activation is running inside it too.

The 30 day practice

On reveal day, access the DNA through spirals. Try spirals on yourself first, in different colors: white, purple, green, red, gold, whatever you feel. Look for the perfect color, the one that hits the mark. Bask in it as long as it takes, and notice what comes up. Time under a vibration makes a difference.

Then the energetic body. Set the intention: God, higher power, universe, everybody in this container, for the highest good, be put in this energetic body. Setting the intention is itself one way to do group healing. Send your spirals, in your color or colors, into the body, and freestyle. Whatever comes: generational, gestational, embracing their gifts, being supported. Follow it as long as needed.

Then, for the next ten healings, here is what I gave. Set the intention: for the highest good, I want to fully understand how I am doing the DNA as I heal, or at least, whatever frequency running in me is related to DNA, I want it singled out, more apparent, more potent, so I can pay attention to it. When you single out a frequency, it is easier to replicate and understand. Then replicate it before bed. Tap into that frequency and bask in it. The longer you bask in it consciously, the more your mind gets the handshake with the energy, and the questions you have about how it works start to unravel pretty quickly.

And I added: in your practice sessions, intend for your master gift to be in full effect while you do the normal clearing and healing, and notice the difference in intensity, feedback, results, and what you feel. After a week or two your mind will say there is a noticeable difference. It feels like you are going deeper, accessing more, reaching past timelines and past generations faster.

In a healing

For a physical condition, I said your best shot is working at the DNA level and beyond, the subatomic, energy in its smallest form, where everything is programmable, removable, rewirable. You have easier access to that than others who might need sacred geometry or time to build vibration. Disease has an energetic signature. A healthy heart has one, a struggling heart has another, and you can address it at the DNA level. If someone says they have knee pain, intend to work on it for the highest good at the DNA level, use spirals, set the intention, and do whatever comes. You remove what does not belong, put in what is needed, unwind what is not needed from the past and from generational storage. It is a big responsibility, but you were born doing it, probably more times than you can count. Your mind is catching up to your ability, not the other way around.

On the difference between DNA and spiritual activation, I have said it two ways. One way: there is an intersection. With DNA you are more actively working the DNA, more manual, so if there is not enough love, gift activation can be slower. You can get there with gifts, since a lot of gifts are trapped in the DNA. Spiritual activators bring activation to the DNA and the DNA just does it. Subtle, but a big difference. The other way: what is more prominent with DNA is not so much activating gifts, it is the sensation, the feeling, the knowing, the processing of energy, the hearing. It is a DNA resequencing. They say ninety or ninety five percent of our DNA is junk. It is not junk. It is scrambled, not sequenced properly. As a DNA activator you sequence things so they can make sense, so energy can flow through and be experienced.

When it is unexpressed

The generational weight, carried humanistically. A psychic who got DNA told me about painful patterns she could not escape, one after another. What rang through was generational. When you tune into those events, you are not just tapping into your own life, you are tapping into the collective generational energy, a snowball built by every ancestor in your line. That is why it feels backbreaking. You cannot escape it if you are dealing with it humanistically, because it is not human, it is energetic. In your human story you will never win that battle. From your soul story, from a healer point of view, from your master gift, it is peanuts. As a DNA healer you can release it quickly, without reliving it. The master gift you were given is the exact solution to what you are carrying.

Parameters and boundaries

Permission works on two levels. A DNA activator asked whether she needs permission to activate a gift she notices while working on the DNA. Gifts activate spontaneously all over the world without people's conscious consent, because it is more soul consent than human consent. The way through is setting the intention that only what is for the highest good of all activates.

And love. Because DNA work is more hands on with the DNA, more love makes it go faster and smoother.

What it looks like at higher levels

I said people who push the limit go from DNA and ancestral healing for one person to DNA for everybody. The levels get bigger depending on your appetite and on what is for the highest good.

Questions students ask

Does a DNA activator also activate gifts? It could. There is overlap with spiritual activator, and a lot of gifts are trapped in the DNA.

Do I need permission? Soul consent and the highest good of all parameter.

What do I call myself? DNA healer works.

What if the illness has already developed? Work at the DNA level and beyond, with spirals and intention, and do whatever comes.

Is it just generational and gestational? No. Any deep trauma, physical conditions, untapped human potential.

How does it combine with channeling? Channel the energy and direct it to the DNA.

Stories from the room

The day before one reveal, during a freestyle, a student saw rainbow ribbons coming down over her partner and going into the DNA, and the DNA spiraling in rainbow color. She wondered why she was even going to the DNA level. The next day she found out.

A DNA activator went through colors, started with orange, and finally gathered a great big ball of orange, yellow, red, and purple from the sacral area and let it go, spirals everywhere. Then an iridescent color like dragon scales. Then the DNA of water, of the earth, of the waterways, the ocean, vibrating in her hands.

Another was pulled into the group healing body, into the heart DNA, and saw that there are multiple dimensions of DNA, all interconnected, with what looked like a misfire around trust and intuition.

And the student who almost dismissed it said that during the group healing it went, wow, this DNA is everything. She wanted to heal her descendants' DNA, not only her ancestors'.

3

Gift Three: Portal Openers

What it is

Portals are ways for information and energy to pass from one area to another, or to open up dimensions, realities, frequencies. People can learn to open them, like any other gift. Portal openers do it very naturally.

Have you watched Doctor Strange? You have an idea. It goes beyond that, but I said it is probably the closest depiction.

A student asked the difference between a portal opener and an Akashic person. The Akashic is a place. A portal is a mechanism. If I want to go from here to Australia, I can open a portal and I am in Australia. Australia is the Akashic. The portal is how information travels from one place to another, how energy travels, how energy goes through different dimensions. I said it even more simply: portals are just faster ways to get from point A to point B. Faster ways from one vibration to another, to a vibration where God is more easily felt. A transportation mechanism.

Where it comes from

Portals can register in your crown or your third eye. A student told me people always say her third eye is enlarged. If you are opening a portal to higher level beings, to things beyond this world, and bringing energy down, that is the crown. If it is people who have passed, souls, things on this Earth, that is probably the third eye, and you are connected more to the Earth realm and the things that exist vibrationally here. If your third eye is that big, I would bet you have a portal open that you do not even know about. The only reason it registers that big is a lot of activity you cannot see. The larger third eye is the feedback.

Where does a portal lead? Depends on what you are tapping into. I said on the other side is information, healing, energy that would need to travel light years, and instead of light years it is instant. Dimensions, frequencies, locations, energies, timelines, past, present, future.

How it has been showing up your whole life

You open and close portals automatically. That is what you were doing whether you knew it or not.

A portal opener asked for examples from her own life. Somebody is feeling bad, crying, and you unconsciously open a portal for energy to go through. They feel good, you close it, and they do not know what happened. You cannot find an answer to something, a portal opens, the Akashic channels through, and you have it. Somebody has no clarity, you open a portal with your energy, and after a while they are clear. As a kid, knowing things past, present, and future, because portals are also portals through time.

A lot of the psychic senses people have with those who have passed, the smell, the taste, the touch, the feeling, are portals opening. People who can see people who have passed, it is almost like their eyes have portals attached. You are seeing through a portal, hearing through a portal, feeling through a portal.

Dreams. A student told me that at sixteen she dreamed she was in her grandfather's hospice room, heard him breathing, heard him stop, saw him float up out of his body, woke at six something in the morning, and found out hours later he had passed at that exact time. Completely portal. With portals you can remote view and astral travel, be in other locations and experience things as they happen. That was an unconscious portal. When it is for the highest good, your higher self or soul takes control. It has its own autonomous way of operating.

And it may be how your other gifts have been working. Transmuters, psychics, Akashic people, healers, weather and technology people can all be opening portals. It may be the method by which their gifts express themselves more easily.

The doubt pattern

Two doubts, opposite each other.

The first: I am not seeing anything, not feeling anything. A portal opener said it did not land or resonate at all for her. She feels things more than she sees them. Then, listening to the shares, she realized that when she does see flashes, it is always her dragonfly, a golden dragon, an eagle, a unicorn, and she loves to travel. Openness is the right place to start.

The second: fear. If I forget to close a portal, do I invite spirits into my home? I will answer that under parameters, because it deserves a real answer.

And a third, quieter one: is this the reason for my exhaustion? A portal opener and transmuter with thyroid issues, fatigue, and brain fog asked me that. The moment she started talking, the back of my head went, yeah. Either it is that, or she had not been stepping into it fully. What I saw was a transmuter with a big heart transmuting too much for others with her own energy. Too much is not bad if it goes through a portal and the energy comes from outside you. But when you are the battery and you get drained, a lot goes out and not much comes in, and earlier on that becomes a recipe for affecting you physically, with doctors who have no answers. It is gift related.

The 30 day practice

I gave this one directly. Every night for the next thirty nights, open a portal before bed and experience whatever is for the highest good through it. Set the parameters of only light and love, highest good of all, and have your angels around you for protection so nothing funky happens. Whatever your intention is, a healing, an activation, astral travel, messages, it is pretty fun.

On reveal day, open a portal for yourself first. Intention for the highest good: open a portal, and whatever energy for the highest good, of light and love, is here to assist, can come through. Bask in it so you feel what it is like to open one and have it come through. Then close it and send it off.

Then the energetic body with your container. Open a portal on top of them and freestyle. Whatever comes through, healing, activation, whatever shows up to support the group, as long as you can.

When you are still craving more after the thirty nights, take it into the day. Having a tough conversation and need support? Open a portal and ask the higher level beings and guides to hold loving space between you and that person, a container. Overwhelmed walking through a mall? Instead of just shields, open a portal and have energy and guides around you protecting you as you walk. Portals become more of a way of life.

How do you open one? Your energy can just do it. You can intend it. You can visualize it. You can draw a circle. Mine is more like I am opening it up. And the Sri Yantra? I said it is a crutch for getting people used to it. You can skip it and go by intention, or draw it out.

In a healing

Should you open a portal before healings? I do. I said I do it as often as I can, for energy that wants to come through, for guides and higher level energy to be there. It is more efficient. I can either channel it through me or have portals assist, and it is faster.

You can bring anything through it. A portal opener asked whether she could bring white, purple, gold, Sedona energy, crystal energy through a portal to someone in a healing. That is what they are for. We use sacred geometry to access things far and potently, and portals do the exact same thing. You might even bring through a sacred geometry you have never learned.

Outsource the heavy part. A portal opener and transmuter asked how to use a portal so she was not transmuting with her own energy. Open a portal, call in beings of light and love, angels, to come transmute the energy, and close the portal when they are done. Just outsource it.

Mentor Carol's master gift is portal opener too, and her primary was transmuter. She told the room she did not really understand it at first, and now she uses it in all her healings. She opens the portal and asks people's angels, beings of light and love, the Ascended Masters to come down and facilitate, and she said it was almost immediate.

For serious physical conditions, here is how I do it, and I said, do not do it like me, this is just how I do it. I do rainbow before the person goes to sleep for a set number of nights, eight, thirteen, twenty one, and let it bake all night. At times I also open a portal and bring down any beings of light and love who specialize in that specific condition, let them work the rest of the night, and close everything when I wake up. I like time under healing.

Karmic material goes through a portal, not a vortex. A vortex is protection, containment, energy management; what you send there is still on Earth, within a certain proximity. A portal sends it far, into a void, a different time and space.

When it is unexpressed

A third eye that registers large with activity you cannot see. A transmuter running everything through her own body. Fatigue that no one can explain. Those are the patterns I have named. The fix in each case is the same: become conscious of the portals, close what does not need to be open, and route energy through the portal so you are not the battery.

Parameters and boundaries

Spirits will not randomly come just because you open a portal. I said it depends on your intention. When you open a portal for the highest good, you can even set the intention that it automatically closes. If your intention is, let me open a portal so anything can come through, Wild Wild West, then sure. That is why intentions are so important in any sacred geometry work. The intention guides the entire experience.

People who have really bad experiences, I said, are usually people who do not do energetic boundaries, whose vibration is low and fear based, and who do not know to ask for the highest good of all. It is not that the gift is bad. They did not know how to navigate it. With the tools, coming from a high place, with the parameters, it is as safe as safe can be.

Do not rely only on your mind to open and close them. You are being guided. Put the intention of highest good of all and beings of light and love, and otherwise flow with it, because when you rely on your mind you miss things. What if you needed it open five minutes ago for some reason your mind had no context for? Master gifts open, work independently, automatically, unconsciously, whether you like it or not.

Closing. Mentor Kimberly laughs about it, because when I show people how to close a portal I just do this. Closed. It is that simple. Mentor Carol closes everything down every night before bed, just above her head, because she opens them naturally all day and, as a transmuter, a lot of people's information filters through her. For a colleague whose house was full of spirit activity, I said that you can do it remotely from a picture, go into each room with the intention of closing the portal, one by one or all at once, with the closing motion.

Mirrors across from your bed being bad for portal openers? Someone asked. I have not seen that and I have not taught that. It might be straight from a movie. When I checked it energetically, it was not a strong hit.

And stay with your master gift. Someone wanted to explore portal opening while their master gift was something else. I lovingly redirected them. People have multiple master gifts. The one revealed is the one that affects your vibration the most in this phase of your life.

What it looks like at higher levels

Helping souls cross. People who have passed and have not transitioned: a portal opener can open a portal and help them move through. I said, as funny as it sounds, souls and spirits often do not know how to open a portal themselves. It is not a common gift even for them. You ask your guides and higher power to help this person get to where their soul needs to be for the highest good, and you open it so that as they walk through, they are there. That is what the movies mean by crossing to the light.

Bringing sacred sites to people. There are portals all over the world. People travel to the pyramids of Egypt, to Stonehenge, to feel that potency. When you open one, people can feel an experience usually reserved for sacred sites.

Bringing the future closer. I said: at night, set the intention to open a portal, with the reality you want on the other side. If here is where you are and that reality seems light years away, when you open a portal they are right next to each other. You pull that energy here and ground it, and things unfold faster than your mind can comprehend. I have done that every night, practicing and practicing.

Combining with other gifts. A portal opener whose GEO 1 gift was weather and technology asked how to mesh the two. You do not have to. But if you wanted to spread more love through the weather or technology, you would open a portal and layer it so it hits the weather and spreads. Weather and technology are for distribution. Portals are for potency. Mixed, you get potency with mass distribution. Channels and portals: the whole thing about channels is portals. When you channel something far away and it comes in broken, one sentence here and there, a portal makes it fiber optics instead of dial up. And for an Akashic person: intend it, open a portal, and leave it open the entire night, letting it download. I am a big fan of opening it all night and letting it dump.

Questions students ask

Can I use the portal just for information, or for support for myself during a healing? Yes. It can be overwhelming at first because you are not used to that much energy at once.

Do I need the Sri Yantra? No. It is a crutch to get used to it.

Can I close portals in someone else's house? Yes, remotely, room by room or all at once.

Does a portal relate to an enlarged third eye? Very likely there is a portal open.

Should I open portals before bed? Yes, with parameters and angels around you.

Why does the world need portal openers? To bring the potency of sacred sites to people who need it.

What is on the other side? Information, healing, energy, timelines. Do not stick your head in.

Is the portal the filter between me and God? It is a transportation mechanism. A channel who sometimes cannot feel Source asked this. There are many reasons people cannot feel things, a block in the heart, attachment to the outcome, and sometimes they are just so far from it. A portal brings you closer, and then it is easier to feel.

Stories from the room

Here is my own, and I have said I would probably never share it publicly. In Sedona in 2015 I woke up in the middle of the night trying portals. I put my hand in one and could see through it, and I thought, okay, I do not need to know that. Three or four seconds and I was out. Back then I was so skeptical, so visual, that unless I saw something I did not believe it. A lot of my early feedback was intense stuff to prove to me that what I thought was invisible was real. That was for my belief building. I would not stick my head in there, and I do not think you will.

My little five year old is a portal opener. Kids do it naturally.

A portal opener grounded herself to a place with a sacred geometry form across space and time and actually felt the resonance for the first time, and said pre activation and post activation was a big difference. When she opened the portal in practice she saw a golden statue of the Buddha with a geometry on his heart, then waves.

A portal opener had prayed at five years old, kneeling on her bed in her grandparents' farmhouse full of spiders, for the angels to take away her fear. She dreamed she was pushed into a chamber full of spiders, cried, and was healed. During GEO 2 she turned around in a healing and saw that the one pushing her was herself, grown, as a healer.

Another, at the attunement, went through the portal and got a warm welcome from the angelic realm. They tried to make wings because they figured a human would expect wings, and they were not very good at it, and she said, it is okay, I know you are light. Her mother came through too, trying to form her body, and she said, Mom, I know you are light.

One student told me they used to get nosebleeds as a kid whenever they focused hard, and now they link the two.

4

Gift Four: Angelic Realm

What it is

If you are a four, you are part of the angelic realm. What people sometimes call earth angels. The way I think of it, you are either an angel reincarnated, living here in a human body, or you carry a fractal of angel energy. One of your past lives was probably spent in the angelic realm. I said four is typically embodying angelic or archangel energy reincarnated, so that realm is easier for you to access and get information from.

There are a lot of angels, known and unknown, and you have command, recognition, affinity with every single one of them. Angels can help with everything in life.

I know a lot of people who never learn healing, who work with angels their whole life, and they are good their entire life. That is what they call on, where they exist, what they can bring onto this planet.

Where it comes from

Most of what you work with is in the angelic or archangel realm. That does not mean you cannot interact with other realms. I said that when you are in the angelic realm, all other realms are easier to communicate with because it is a higher vibration. The energy of a tree, the land, other living things, it is all easier from there.

Archangels are in a higher dimension, not bound by space and time. They can access past, present, future. More energy is available there.

Earth angels pull from both. I said that angels who come here and are part of Earth also have to pull from the Earth, not just from up high. They need both to be balanced and to do it efficiently on Earth. That is why so many of you feel connected to animals and to Mother Nature too.

How it has been showing up your whole life

You have always felt guided and supported. There has always been something different. You just knew you were different.

Synchronicities and miracles show up in your life and you go, wow.

I said when I tell people this is their gift, a lot of them are not aware of it, but it does not mean it never happened. All the lucky moments. Saving graces where you do not know where they came from. Once you start knowing it, it becomes extremely apparent.

I said that when angelic realm is someone's master gift, it is extremely natural, to the point they do not even know it is running in the background. They go through their entire life supported and blessed.

And transmuting. A student asked if there is a connection between transmuters and the angelic realm. A lot of the time the reason someone can transmute is that they are channeling to transmute, or they are from the angelic realm. That is why they are called earth angels: you are doing things angels do, in human form, on Earth, and part of that is transmuting for people, for locations, for places.

The doubt pattern

Stagnation. A channel with angelic realm, who runs a business and does many healings a week, told me she produces miracles and synchronicity all the time and still sabotages herself, with imposter feelings, when things go slow. The mind and the doubt become bigger than the proof of the miracles. Here is how I see it. In the angelic realm your nature is extremely different from Earth. The mind on Earth is almost a useless tool there, a downgrade. You live in the land of miracles, nature, possibility, visitations. Stagnation is not normal there, because everything is fast. Doubt, living in the mind, self sabotage, not normal. So when things go slow and human, you are being exposed to something far from your nature, and you want to avoid it like the plague. I grew up in tropical weather, so I am used to heat, and if it is too cold I can only last so long before I want to go back to warm. Same thing.

Not feeling it. She also said what she gets is subtle, symbols and animated images, and she wants to hear. I told her the thing she has, most people want. I get visuals, people want that, and then I joked that I want to hear.

The word angel. A student said she simply could not call herself an angel. It does not have to be “angel healer.” It can be your name, and you say, I tap into the angelic realm to help with healings. It takes a while to get used to a name like that.

The 30 day practice

I gave a man with angelic realm this: over the next thirty days, be more conscious and aware and open to it. Ask, intend, and pray more and more, and watch it. With angelic realm it is very much through intention and prayer. Through the beginning of time it has always been that. When you are dealing with divinely high intelligence and consciousness, there are not a lot of steps you need to get them to act. What is changing is that you are bringing the unconscious awareness into the conscious forefront and co creating with it instead of it just happening automatically.

I said the best practice is probably before bed. Ask the angels and archangels you need to surround you and be there to heal, give messages, activate, or protect you while you sleep. The best learning is immersion. It is a felt frequency, and the more familiar you become, the faster and more potent it gets. Your body and energy are naturally a match, so you can house it with ease, where others need to build up to it.

On reveal day: call upon all the angels for the highest good that you need right now, and have them surround you in a circle. You are in the middle. Imagine them coming down, colors, or just light. In the angelic realm a lot happens with just intention, so it may just happen when you intend it. For the first part you are only receiving, breathing in whatever they are sending, messages, healing, activation, immersed in it.

Then the energetic silhouette with your container. Call angels for the highest good to surround that container and send what they need, healing, love, activation, while you observe and participate. Let the angels do the work. They are connected to you, so you may see, hear, feel, or experience what is going on.

In a healing

This is how I do my own regular healings. I call in angels and archangels to facilitate and assist, and they do things I might never know how to do myself. I said I can have them do the whole healing and be less present, or do it together with them, which is my preference, for a more intense and potent session.

Ask by function, not by name. A student asked whether to call specific archangels or just ask for help. When I do physical healing, I ask for archangels and angels who specialize in physical healing, known and unknown, and depending on the disease it might be sixty or more, and I do not know their names. I go by function. Health, abundance, clarity, grief, protecting children. Driving down the road and an ambulance goes by, send angels to help with critical care. You can ask for specific ones too, and that works. But going by function means you are not limited to the ones you know by name. You can never overwork angels.

There is an angel for everything. Healing past karma. Ones that deal specifically with time. Psychosurgery. You do not have to go into someone's past lives yourself. And as you work with them, you get a glimpse of what they do, and that methodology starts transferring from their energetic field to yours.

Angels can shortcut the steps. A student asked whether she could skip scanning and clearing and let the angels give the right energy by intention. Do whatever works. Angels can do quick cord cutting, clearing, rejuvenating. The step by step I teach is a unified way for everyone to be able to do it. My way is one that works, not the only thing that works.

For pets. A hands on healer and earth angel told me her young cat had needed two blood transfusions and was sick again. I said call on the archangels and angels for supporting and healing animals every morning and night for about thirteen days, and let them do their job. It is much harder to do hands on healing on loved ones when you are attached. I still do it, but I ask for higher help too, because I might be too biased.

When it is unexpressed

When the angelic nature is living in a slow, heavy, human environment, it feels like stagnation, doubt, and sabotage. That same student told me the people she lives with were in very low energy all summer, stuck in things they cannot control, and she felt she was fighting it every day. Same with Lemurians. When you are used to a reality that is good and light and endless possibility, human suffering is the last thing you want to be in. But your soul probably chose to be here to help humanity heal, and to help humans heal you have to understand what they go through. That is the main empathy driver. Ask, what I am experiencing, how is it related to my purpose work, to the gift I am here to give? Then it is not unnecessary suffering.

Parameters and boundaries

Angels do not have to worry about free will the way we do. A swim school owner asked how to calm kids without parental permission for direct energy work. If you want to send angels down and raise the vibration of the room because that is what you want, and people happen to be in that room having shifts, that is free game.

And they are part of every advanced practice whether you call them or not. In 2025 I said archangels are always involved when you do rainbow. They are the guardians of advanced sacred geometry. You come with a team.

Not everything in your field is a threat. A student felt more entities around her than ever after the activation. Absolutely gift related. Not all energies and entities are bad. They could be archangels, angels, loving beings. Knowing that expands your options so you do not automatically go into fear.

What it looks like at higher levels

Millions at a time. Someone asked if it matters how many people. Angels and archangels have fractal technology. They can be everywhere, as potent with everyone in every given second. They have mass healing ability. I said if thirty thousand people ask Archangel Michael for help right now, he does not go through them one by one. A piece of the whole has the map of the whole.

The applications multiply. You may have been calling angels for people you love for years. Now it is calling them for yourself too, and for activation, protection, learning, and the elevation of the planet.

Clearing places. Someone asked how to clear a house, land, an apartment. I deal with a place like a person. You can scan the heavy spots and clear them like a chakra. But honestly, I do not use my own energy. I ask beings of light and love, angels and archangels, to come down and clear all the areas, escort the negativity out, and replace it with love, peace, high vibrational energy. Then I ask some of them to stay and guard the doors, the windows, around the bed. I have done it with my own energy and it takes a toll, no matter what level you are. For them this is nothing.

Questions students ask

How do I start working with angels? Before bed, ask them to surround you and do what you need. Immersion.

Do they handle past lives and timelines? There is an archangel for that, and for psychosurgery.

Do I call specific archangels? Go by function. Names are optional.

Can I skip the clearing steps? If it works, yes.

What about my GEO 1 gift? Psychic and angelic: Mentor Kimberly told a student to be quiet and listen, and do the reveal exercise, and the more she does it the stronger it gets.

I am not taking action, I am just praying and waiting. Is that my gift? I said give it a week or so after a fresh activation, because a whole new way of accessing it is about to roll out.

Stories from the room

A student who had had her first visions the day before saw hearts and spirals filling the energetic body, Archangel Michael and Archangel Metatron there, and wrapped everyone in Metatron's Cube.

A GEO 1 hands on healer with angelic realm had two practice partners independently tell him he is a healer and that he is the epitome of an earth angel. One partner saw his energy touch ten ailments from twenty years of her life, her jaw, her tinnitus, all at once.

A student said that every day the angels come to her as a wisp that comes down and then forms their bodies. In the group she saw a scene like the tree in Avatar, everyone kneeling with hands on each other's shoulders.

Another saw a goddess working on the root, Archangels Haniel and Uriel dancing around the solar plexus, Raphael sending a green spiral to the heart, Gabriel on the throat and ears.

A man put his wife and kids in the energetic body and felt a lot of emotion. He has always called on God, and calling on angels felt different, closer, like people he can call on to help even with small things. He felt a sensation around his ears he had never felt before.

A channel with angelic realm told me Archangel Michael once took over a healing she was doing on her son, and he scared her because he is so strong. Another time something took her, while she was grounding her house, to heal a cousin.

And Mentor Kimberly, who was so sure she was angelic realm, uses the angels constantly in her healings even though her master gift came out elemental.

5

Gift Five: Mother Nature Embodiers

What it is

Mother Nature embodiment, or Gaia. You can call it Gaia. You are connected to the consciousness and the healing energy of the Earth. It runs through you. You are one with it. You are connected to the energy, the soul, the heartbeat of the Earth.

Think about all the healing properties that come from Earth. Herbs, and everything else that is used to heal. One variation of this gift is that you can send people the energetic tones of whatever can heal them. You are like the energetic pharmacy. I said anything grown on Earth has an energy, so you can give the energy of an herb to someone, replicating the energetic signature of anything on Earth for healing.

Where it comes from

Deep within the Earth. That is where you get your energy and your healing.

And the Earth has its own Akashic. To me there are lots of different Akashic records, and one of them is the Akashic record of the wisdom of Earth. I said it is a segment of the Akashic records that is Earth based rather than universal. Someone asked what is in it. Everything. The secrets of the Earth: healing properties, herbs, underground pyramids, all the energies underneath the Earth, cultures that tapped into the Earth, calamities, earthquakes. Volcano eruptions. You have a finger on the pulse of everything happening on Earth, above it, below it, things seen and unseen, past, present, and future. It is a tall order.

A student asked whether it is codes and keys. I never thought of it that way, but yes, you can call it that. You have access to unlock the information of the Earth's wisdom, and your master gift and your vibration are the key. And the Earth's energy is not one calm flat energy. It grounds, it transmutes, it counteracts, it builds, it creates. You can tap into and ride the wave of all of it.

How do you reach it? A psychic and medium with this gift asked whether she was blending her energy with plants and animals and places. Not so much blending. Think of a radio station. You are connecting to the station where the animals are communicating, or the plants. You are already part of it. You are just becoming conscious of which one you want to tap into.

How it has been showing up your whole life

You were a nature child. A Mother Nature embodiment said she could never live in a city, she thinks she would die in one. When she passes a mine, where they are taking stones out of the Earth, she feels the sadness and the pain.

You have been drawn to herbs. A student told the room she started in medicine and was the only one drawn to herbs, homeopathics, natural remedies, while everyone told her she was wasting her time. She chose to leave what she called the study of poisons. Mentor Kimberly laughed and said, think about what medicine is made of. Herbs. Where do herbs come from?

You connect to animals and to angels too, because, as I said, it is all connected. Earth angels pull from the Earth as well.

Burial grounds and sacred sites speak to you. A student whose business is at the Denver airport, which people say is built on burial grounds, always took that as a blessing, and treats her business as a fountain to share that sacredness. For someone who can read it, it is different. Now it is information, support, wisdom.

The doubt pattern

The shock of going down instead of up. A Mother Nature embodier said the gift was shocking to her, not because she does not love the Earth, but because she had tried so hard to elevate, elevate. Maybe she needed to be in the earth, in the dark. That is the doubt for a lot of you. The whole journey has been up through the crown, and this one comes from below.

And the question of permission, because you are reaching so many people and places. I will cover that below.

The 30 day practice

The daily rhythm I gave this group is this. Connect to that energy every single day. Once in the morning, once before you go to sleep. Can I connect, can I connect. Get used to it. Next thing you know it happens throughout the day as you need it.

On reveal day, it happens with you first. Connect down through your feet to the center of the Earth. The way I imagine it, there is a ball of light at the center of the Earth, the energy center of the Earth, and roots come down from your feet and wrap around it. Let that energy come up through the roots and breathe it in. Whatever the Earth wants to give you, information, healing, heat, warmth, grounding, breathe it in with every breath, as long as you can, noticing what happens.

Then the energetic body with your container, for the highest good of all. Connect them to the Earth as deep as it can go, wrapping around that golden light, and send energy from below to above to them. Cleansing, grounding, whatever they need. You will know, because you may know or feel what is being sent, or have a knowledge of it, a finger on the pulse. Let it happen as long as it needs to.

In a healing

Ground people faster. Give them the energetic tone of whatever heals them. A Mother Nature embodier saw the whole group sparkling like fluorescent fireworks, then was called to shoulder pain, back pain, migraines, and put Mother Earth herbs and healing elements from nature into them.

You are an advanced transmuter. A hands on healer with this gift said she feels she is constantly transmuting energy from plants, animals, people, and when she puts her hand on someone she feels an energetic loop, from them to her and back. Transmuters typically use their own energy. At a higher level they use higher level energy going through them. Mother Nature embodiers are already connected to the Akashic and the energy of the Earth, so they use all of that to transmute for others, faster and for more people, using the healing energy of the Earth. That is why I call it advanced. Advanced means accelerated.

Counteract what people are sensitive to. A student asked about her daughter, who is very sensitive to magnetic shifts and the full moon. You can use the Earth to absorb radiation, EMFs, 5G. You can use the Earth through the trees to experience oxygen on a deeper level. You can counteract anything manmade with the Earth's energy. You would not be bored. It is a never ending list.

Do not over think where the Earth energy goes in the body. A student who brought Earth energy up through everyone's crown did not feel right about it. Mentor Kimberly told her she is intuitively guided on what to pull and where, and if it does not feel right, listen to that.

When it is unexpressed

Feeling the Earth's pain without a channel for it. The student who feels the sadness at a mine. The student who carries the burial grounds under her business. Without the gift being conscious, that is just heaviness. With it, it is information.

Parameters and boundaries

Free will and permission. A student wanted to be sure she had permission to tap into all these energies for the greatest good. Master gifts that are activated only show up this way for people who will not misuse them. When it shows up, it means you are ready. And the consciousness of Mother Nature, of the Earth itself, has its own divine consciousness it operates under. If you are not meant to access something, it simply will not be accessible to you.

Bringing people in. A Mother Nature embodiment, during an infinity sign healing for the Earth, got the message to bring a specific person in, someone she did not have permission from. She invited her with highest good of all, it kept going until she had invited many people, and they all became points of light and sacred geometry. She felt uncomfortable about it. I told her she did the right thing. When you want someone's physical presence, you ask them directly. When you want their higher self, you ask their higher self, and it can say yes or no. Higher selves are at a very high vibration with their boundaries extremely dialed in. If it is a no, they simply will not be there.

What about spirits stuck in the Earth? I look at things a little differently. I believe in fractal technology. When people pass they can leave remnants, a fractal of their human self with unresolved issues, while their soul and higher self are already out doing what they need to do somewhere else. For some, part of them just stays.

What it looks like at higher levels

Mass group healing. Anything on Earth, anything inside it, you can access, so you can send healing to everyone on Earth easily.

Clearing land. Continents, states, lands. It is easy for you to work on clearing them. That is an element of a huge group world healing within this gift.

And phases. A student asked whether the task is to heal the Earth. I said I am not so much healing the Earth, because the Earth already has its own healing mechanisms. It depends on your priority and the phase you are in. If you are not physically well, you use it for your physical wellness. Next thing you know you want to affect a population or a country, and you can do that. A lot of gears.

Questions students ask

Is it codes and keys? You can call it that. Your vibration is the key.

Am I blending with plants and animals? You are tuning a station you are already part of.

Can I help my sensitive daughter? Use the Earth to absorb and counteract.

Do I have permission? If you can access it, you are ready, and Earth's consciousness decides what is accessible.

Burial grounds and sacred sites? Yes, part of the Akashic of Earth.

Is this connected to angels and animals? Yes. Earth angels pull from Earth too.

Stories from the room

A lifelong nature child connected the whole group deep into the roots and saw roots going from every body into the ground, everything green. She felt the wind touching everyone's skin, saw corn waving, rain on the skin, brown earth running through the veins instead of blood, and then the body became a huge trunk. Goosebumps from the bottom of her body to the top.

The student who left pharmacology for herbs had been told, in a session in Sedona, that she incarnated to hold the Earth's wisdom and needed to remember and choose. Walking to the fire ceremony there, she got a sharp pain in her knee with every step on one leg, no injury, and a voice saying, choose. It lasted a day and a half to two days. Then her master gift came out Mother Nature embodier.

6

Gift Six: Lemurian Energy

What it is

When the Lemurians were on the planet, they were among the most highly advanced energetic practices. Empathic, reading minds, lots of gifts, a lot of love, a lot of sacred information and knowledge.

To me, Lemuria is a consciousness now. A state you can access. And when you do, healings are instant, manifestation is fast, and things happen at the speed of thought.

They are natural healers. Mandy has Lemurian energy. She does not do what I do. But her gaze, her touch, her embrace, her presence is extremely healing. I described it as dolphin energy, telepathic, very heart based. Healing by looking at people. Healing by being around people. Sound as healing, water as healing. Healing the masses just by presence and frequency. That is why when Mandy talks in videos, even when she is not saying anything specifically enlightening, the energy of her voice and her eyes carries potent healing.

Where it comes from

A transmuter with Lemurian energy asked whether people with this gift are originally from Lemuria or just matching its frequency. It is different for different people. Some are there originally. Some are there currently. Some can channel it. When I think of Lemuria, it is more of a space and a state and a dimension than a place. Maybe it used to be a place, but right now it is a dimension. So some of you are remembering where you are from, some of you exist in two places at once energetically, and some of you are channeling it from that dimension to this one.

And rainbow. That same student, during her first Metatron's Cube practice, saw a piece of rainbow in the corner of a vision. Is Lemurian energy related to rainbow? One hundred percent. Rainbow comes from a lot of vibrations, and one of them is Lemuria. One of the ones that carried it here on the planet was Lemurian energy, and it is one of the strongest pathways through which I brought it here.

Gold too. A Lemurian student said she used to make gold energy her own way before I taught GEO 1, and switched to my method. Gold energy is Lemurian, Pleiadian technology. That is its source when it was channeled. That is why Mandy does it naturally without the sacred geometry. Go back to your way and try it.

How it has been showing up your whole life

Love is who you are. A Lemurian said that, plain. She had never heard of Lemuria until a classmate after GEO 1 told her about it. Her mother, who said she was never hugged, told someone that her daughter was the one who taught her how to hug.

You heal by being there. With touch, with looking, with your voice, your presence, your intention.

You know a lot without knowing. A natural healer who lives an hour from Sedona said she had tried for years to learn more and fill more, and it is actually more like being empty. She sees a frequency and cuts straight to it, very fast. When she heard Mandy talk she went, oh, okay, because Mandy just says it, fast and clean.

The doubt pattern

The steps. Lemurians get tripped out because they feel they need to do the steps when they already have it. A channel with Lemurian energy, and a student whose guides kept telling her she did not have to force anything, both asked me versions of this: can I just see it, call it in, and trust it is there? That is what we build up to. That is the goal. Mandy is very similar. No structure, all intention. You could almost forget what you are doing and it still happens, because it is baked into your essence. What you can do in one step, why do in eight? A lot of what I have taught over the years was backwards engineered from people who do it naturally. You can do the steps to refresh yourself, but do not hold yourself to them. And if you are worried about being cocky, the fact that you are worried shows the humility, which matters at this level.

Comparison. If your healings do not look like the level ten visual experience other people describe, go by results. I told a Lemurian that early on I had to do the same. I was not getting the big visual stuff, so I asked, does it at least work on other people? When it was yes, okay, onward. That is the benchmark. Her clients told her they would pay her a million dollars.

The 30 day practice

The reveal practice is two fold, yourself first.

Set an intention to connect to your Lemurian energy and return to it. What I typically do is imagine white light coming down and follow it all the way up to get to Lemuria. While you follow it, do the sacred breath. In for three, hold for three, out for three. That is one cycle. Seven of them, up to thirteen or fourteen if you need. Each breath cycle takes you vibrationally closer until you hit Lemurian space, and it is a very unique space. When you are there, bask in it. Stay in it. Get used to it. See what is different.

Then the energetic body with your container, and from that space send Lemurian energy, whatever is needed. Notice what it is like to receive it and what it is like to share it.

Sound and breathwork can both get you there, and so can a combination. Being in a group of Lemurians gets you there faster, because Lemurian energy activates even faster in groups.

And place. A student near Sedona asked where to go. Boynton Canyon, near Enchantment, has a lot of Lemurian and Pleiadian energy and vibe.

In a healing

I said Lemurians heal with touch, by looking, by frequency, with the people around them, with their voice, their presence, their intention. Presence and energetic frequency are really potent. So in a healing, let the frequency do it. You do not need to build what is already there.

When it is unexpressed

Homesick sadness. That same transmuter said that whenever she connects to the Lemurian frequency she feels emotional, more like sadness, but not bad, homesick. It happens. Lemurians are all love. You do not come to Earth because it is fun. You come here to give the gift, to help heal Earth. It is not a vacation. It is a job, a duty, purpose work, a mission. When you experience where you come from, where there is not a lot of pain, of course you miss it.

And in the reveal I said a lot of the pain people experience in life is because they feel disconnected from that space.

Parameters and boundaries

I have not given Lemurians a special set of parameters beyond what applies to every gift: highest good of all, and love. Lemurian is one of the most love based states there is, so the safeguard is built into the frequency.

What it looks like at higher levels

Speed of thought. Instant healings. Fast manifestation. It is a space and a state you can access, and the more you are there, the more it becomes how you live.

And it is your nature, so understanding it is understanding yourself. A Lemurian asked how to understand it better when you cannot just look it up. Live it more. It is very loving, peaceful, telepathic, advanced in healing, oneness, unity. As I was talking to her, I was feeling she had all of it. To understand Lemuria, you just understand your nature.

Questions students ask

Do I have to do the geometry? No. Trust it.

Am I from there? Some are from there, some are there now, some channel it.

Why do I feel sad when I connect? Homesickness for a place with no pain.

Is it related to rainbow? One hundred percent.

Can I go back to how I made gold before GEO 1? Yes. Gold is Lemurian and Pleiadian.

Where in Sedona? Boynton Canyon.

Stories from the room

A student who had been near breaking all weekend, wanting to quit, irritated, could not get out of her head. She took herself out of the group healings so her energy would not interfere, and realized from that it is not her doing the work. That night she had to pick up her daughter from dance, put her earbuds in, and listened to the attunement driving with her daughter. Her body started settling. That morning she wrote in her journal that she needed a very clear sign this was real and she was not crazy. Her master gift came out Lemurian. She had been working with Lemurian and Pleiadian energy on her own for about a year, and she was going to Mount Shasta in June.

Another had gone to Mount Shasta between her two GEO 1s, paired in the activation with another Lemurian, and they talked about Mount Shasta. She had always seen purple in meditation, and after the practice she saw miniature gold pyramids.

A GEO 1 hands on healer with Lemurian energy started seeing crosses and stained glass after Sedona, then high priests in robes. At the end of a healing she saw Christ open his arms with white light coming straight down. Another night a priest in a robe morphed into Mary Magdalene. Mentor Kimberly told her Lemurian is unconditional, divine love, so those connections made sense.

One Lemurian group visualized themselves sitting in a circle with Metatron's Cube and the yantra around them, palm to palm, sharing Lemurian energy with the rest of GEO 2, and felt each of them amplifying the others.

Gift Seven: Projectors

What it is

I am a projector. You are like a Sedona. One big, giant crystal. You can magnify energy.

Your energy is always at a level ten, with intensity in anything you do. You are potent. You are all in. Your energy can be felt. You know projectors because if they have negative energy and walk into a room, everybody feels it, and if they have positive energy and walk in, everybody feels that too.

You can house more energy. If you are like a crystal, some projectors can house the energy of a hundred people. I put it as a range: some projectors can house ten, a hundred, a thousand, ten thousand, a hundred thousand, a million people's energies within them as if it were their own. That is their natural capacity. So when someone asked what the frequency of a projector is, I said it is not so much a frequency. It is a magnitude of intensity.

That means your healings can be more powerful and your manifesting can be more powerful. You can create things or destroy things pretty quickly, because that is the nature of projection. Intentions are intense.

Where it comes from

Gold is a magnifier, a projector of energy. A projector told me she did rainbow on a partner, they were glowing white, she was called to step back, and when she looked again they had turned gold. A lot of projectors naturally house gold, or an even more intense form of it, as part of their energetic field. It is why you are intense all the time. You are kind of over golded, and that is fine.

And the third eye can be the lens. A projector said that when she channels light in, it projects out through her third eye, visions, the future, all of it.

How it has been showing up your whole life

The biggest pain I have seen in projectors' lives is that they get told to tone it down. A projector laughed and said I was describing her life: how many times she was told she was too much, so much energy, do something with it.

People around you have their gifts magnified. They might get lucky. They might manifest more. You are lifting them up, lending them your energy. I said that near a projector, someone who says, I can't see, I'm not psychic, suddenly finds they are extremely psychic.

The paranormal shows up. A projector asked if that is why she sees so many interdimensional and paranormal things. Higher level energies like to work with people who are open and can handle a lot of potency. They are not on Earth, so they need people who are awake and open here to communicate with and work through. It takes two to tango. The more open you are, the more of a projector you are, the more that just shows up.

A projector told the room she had, for many years, woken up in the middle of the night and seen a movie camera.

The doubt pattern

Fear of your own power. That same projector said her fear of being seen was fear of her own power. She had asked herself, what happens if I really succeed, and the answer that came was, I am going to burn the world, or I am going to be burned. That is where she stopped. Replace burn with anything else. I am going to heal the world, I am going to heal myself. I am going to love the world, I am going to love myself. A projector amplifies whatever you put in. If you shoot in, I am going to destroy the world, sure. Your intention decides. You stopped because you were afraid of even remotely doing harm, and that discernment is probably why you have the gift.

I walked that path myself. Early on, because of my upbringing, I was afraid of who I would be if I had power. If I went for it. If I went too big. What kind of person would I turn into? Who would I lose? What pain would I attract?

The 30 day practice

Try it with colors first. White, purple, gold. Bring light in and fill yourself up. Then experience what it is like to project it, to raise it. Say you start with white. Notice what normal white feels like. Then set the intention to increase it to a high level. You can even use a visual or a hand movement of raising it up. Notice the difference as you keep increasing it, and notice the level where you go, oh, let me stop, that is too much. It can happen by intention alone, but I wanted you to also do it this way so you can see what works better for you. Try each color.

Then the energetic container with everyone, and whatever color you resonated with, gold was really intense, say, put it in the container and raise it. Your intention is that you are projecting, lending, increasing their ability to experience their master gift. Pay attention to what you feel, because whatever you are projecting, you are also feeling in a way. You are learning from everybody's gifts as you raise them.

If you are working on your own blocks, a projector asked whether the gift could help remove her unworthiness faster. Yes. But look at it from an empathic level first. Projectors are connected to people, with some overlap with empaths, so you may be projecting what someone else feels through you. Ask: is it mine? Is it a family member's? Am I projecting for them? If it is someone you are close to, you might be projecting everything they have, even their insecurity and unworthiness. In her case it was her mother's. I knew it was not hers the first time she mentioned it, and I wanted her to reach that conclusion herself. Do not even do healings on the mother. Cut cords, do healings on yourself for what within you is connected to her unworthiness, and project yourself clearing it.

And balance. That same projector asked about masculine and feminine. As a projector, start activity based, and it starts reflecting internally. Feminine is flow, letting go, creation, a little floaty. Masculine is structure, to dos, action, grounding it into the human realm. Practice both. Look at it over a week. Three days feminine and four days masculine is good enough.

In a healing

Your healings are stronger and faster, and people around you heal with your energy. Mentor Kimberly told a projector that his healings are probably quicker and more potent, because there is a lot of power behind a projector.

You can also set how much you amplify. I said you can set an intention for how much you want to amplify the projection during a healing.

What if it is too much for the person? A projector whose healings are already very strong asked whether amplifying could hurt someone. I would not worry about it. That is why we set intentions and work with sacred geometry. There is higher consciousness guiding. There are always checks and balances behind the scenes, so even if you think you are doing too much, it is being filtered, worked on, translated properly. You are not doing the healing alone.

And too much is just how you do things. If the lessons feel like too much in your daily life, take a break for a few days or a week. That is different from doing the work and feeling it is too much. As a projector you will often feel that. Everything you do is a level ten, so your too much is just how you do things.

When it is unexpressed

The pressure cooker. A transmuter with projector, with daily pressure in the chest, trouble breathing, many doctors, told me he was afraid of more light, afraid he would blow up. Projectors have to express. If you do not express it, internally it gets you. What if the pressure is a sign that there is so much waiting to expand, and the mind has a rule that you cannot? Then there is a battle between your essence wanting to expand and your mind saying it is not safe. It is an alarm, a fire alarm, pointing at something deeper, and the questions are the path: who would I be with power, who would I lose. Foot on the gas and the emergency brake on at the same time. It is deeper than the mind. It is identity. Thank the identity that kept you safe in fight or flight, give it a different role, and know that there is life beyond the trauma.

Depletion. A projector who had been physically depleted since her teenage years asked if it was the gift. When you are a projector, you project for other people. People you love, friends, anyone you want to help. When they are around you, they are manifesting using your energy, healing using your energy, pulling from your energy, whether you like it or not. It gets lent out consciously, unconsciously, by intention, by proximity, by thought, by desire. In perpetuity. No boundaries, no stops, asleep or awake, drained or not. It can make you tired.

And tone it down. That is the other way it goes unexpressed. Projectors who try to dim their light, fit in, moderate, it messes them up.

Parameters and boundaries

Never dim. Add love. A student asked whether I put protection on myself to dim my light at, say, a school event, because people get set off around her. I do not. For projectors, because I am a projector, you never tone down, because it never works. You tone down, you get agitated that you have to tone down, and now your agitation is magnified. If I feel I am too intense right now, that means I am coming with so much light, so I go one hundred percent on love, and the light becomes more digestible. People who get set off, when love is there, it melts. For a projector it is not subtracting. It is adding on.

The way you balance is the way colors balance. If you want a certain color, you mix two extremely potent colors and you get it. You never really dial down. You mix different things to get the result. I told a projector that traditional balance goes out the window. Projectors are larger than life, and moderation and limits are counterintuitive advice for them. Go all in. You could probably go harder.

When you are angry. A transmuter, empath, and projector asked how not to blow her anger onto everybody. You still feel. When I know I am going to be pissed, or already am, I put shields and vortexes on myself and shield everybody in my vicinity, and everybody connected to me, even people I am healing elsewhere. Then I clear. For me that is driving, a drive in nature, away from people close to me. A salt bath. Showers. Sleep processes it faster. You are just more mindful of what your energy can do.

What it looks like at higher levels

When you lend energy to someone and raise their energy, for a moment you experience whatever gift they have. At higher, more advanced levels, there is a way to make that more permanent. That is the trade off.

And weather and technology. Someone asked about the connection. A lot of the time, for somebody to do weather and electronics, they typically are projectors, because you have to project your energy that intensely to affect weather and electronics.

Questions students ask

What is the frequency of a projector? It is a magnitude of intensity.

Can I use it on my own unworthiness? Yes, after asking whether it is even yours.

Should I dim my light? Never. Add love.

Will I get some clarification on all this? I said there are hours and hours of me talking about it that the team is putting together. And there is a gazillion ways it expresses. A hundred projectors in a room are all different, like fingerprints.

Is my sense of the paranormal from this? Probably.

What about my anger? Shield yourself and everyone connected to you, then clear.

Stories from the room

A GEO 1 healer who has been healing since the nineties trained her colors and found white light with a little gold was the most intense. She prayed for the GEO 2 body to be supported, and had relapsed that morning on a big hurt, and during the healing she felt her heart explode open, warmth in her back. She said it was more important than ever to keep it open.

Mentor Kimberly told that room projectors do not realize the strength they have, and that things occur because they are there.

And a gift I named in the reveal applies to all of you: the people around you, their gifts are magnified. That is the fun fact about projectors.

8

Gift Eight: Spiritual Activators

What it is

You got the same gift as me. In the reveal recording I actually said the name of gift eight early by accident, and then said, maybe it's not an accident after all.

A spiritual activator activates people. That is what your energy does. People around you start having their gifts show up. People around you start manifesting. People get lucky around you, people heal around you. You are a blessing to the people you meet.

I said spiritual activator is what I do: activating people just by being around them, by presence, by thinking about them, by walking past them. Your energy field interacting with another person's energy field activates them for the highest good, even if you do not know what you are doing.

Where it comes from

Spiritual activation is connected to the Akashics. When you are doing an activation it is the best time to be connected to the Akashic, because answers come, and your head might even get busy. One of the burdens of being a spiritual activator is just how much information and knowledge comes, because you are also tapped into the Akashics.

And it works all the way down at the DNA. In the reveal I said that when you work with spirals, it probably works down to the DNA level, and that is probably the energy you have been using when you activate people unconsciously.

How it has been showing up your whole life

You have probably been activating people all your life and you do not even know it. When you do healings on people, their gifts start activating even when you are not doing an activation on them.

My own version of this is how the whole thing started. When I first started healing people I was not doing any conscious spiritual activation. For over ten years it was cutting cords and liquid gold. Then, halfway through my journey, people around me just started activating. I could not control it and I was not aware of it. I thought, I guess we are on the same path and your gifts are opening up. It was Mandy who said to me, do you know that everybody around you, after they are around you for a short amount of time, is activating? I was skeptical. Then I thought, okay, that is kind of odd. And in Sedona I said to myself, if I have this gift, I want to do it on demand, not randomly when I am talking to someone. That is when the geometry was channeled, because it could not just end with me.

The first master gifts I stepped into, I said, were spiritual activator and projector. Those were the big ones at the beginning. Everything else is still unfolding.

The doubt pattern

Being scared of it. A spiritual activator who had a powerful physical reaction in the practice told Mentor Kimberly she was scared she might activate people without meaning to, even by thinking of them. Kimberly told her she is not going to activate somebody who is not ready to be activated.

And people reacting to you. A spiritual activator and projector asked what to do when someone gets activated by her presence and the relationship shifts in a negative way. Her husband and his kids were non believers, her vibration dropped, and she ended up in a really funky place. I told her this is a good lesson, because I went through it. When your vibration is off by an inch, it is off by a mile. And you quickly realize the wounds you still have to heal. For me it was, oh, they do not believe me, I have to prove it. That was one of my wounds. Seed the information with people when they are in a high place, so when they dip they have context that is not coming from fight or flight.

The 30 day practice

On reveal day I gave you spirals. You can activate by thought or intention, but for this exercise, try spirals. Imagine spirals coming down, in different colors. Your intention is that while you are under the spiral, your master gift and your primary gift unlock at a higher and higher level and you experience it. Others go through activation like a zigzag. A spiritual activator can go straight through. Bask in it, get familiar with the spirals. It is opening up the Akashics, which is where spiritual activation is connected, so things will come to you. Become familiar with the unique frequency of spiritual activation, because that is the energy you use when you activate people unconsciously.

Then the energetic body with your container, and spirals down, spirals down, spirals down, with the intention of activating their master gifts and primary gifts, whatever is needed. Focus on two things: what it feels like as you activate them, and what comes to you, because you are deeply connected to the Akashics. Afterward, share.

Then do the healings. Every spiritual activation you do on someone, you are also activated in the process.

In a healing

The protocol in Part One is the one I channeled, and it came from this gift. Pre healing routine and gold, Metatron's Cube as the dot of the Sri Yantra to open a portal, spirals, then opposite spinning octahedrons, then golden spheres you gently tap open, then close it all by shrinking it and throwing it into the sky.

How does this differ from DNA activation? I said spiritual activators bring activation to the DNA and the DNA just does it, where DNA activators are more manually removing blocks. I said with a spiritual activator it happens naturally, without thought.

And a spiritual activator who is also a projector said she notices healings and activations sometimes happen automatically with people. Is that because they are open on a soul level and ready? Absolutely. It happens at the right time, the right place, the right vibration, before you even know it is happening.

When it is unexpressed

What I have talked about with spiritual activators is more the burden than the unexpressed state: too much information, too much knowledge, and people around you purging and getting agitated because your field is activating them. A student asked whether a spiritual activator gets a double whammy. You do. You are a walking Sedona. People around you go through a purge or get set off, and it is not even your fault. It is the same as someone affecting you negatively in a mall. Free will, same rules.

Parameters and boundaries

More love makes it easier. The more love is present, the faster and more comfortable it is to activate people. It becomes easier and smoother.

Intention covers permission. I always go with the highest good of all. Part of my pre healing intention is calling on higher power, guides, the universe, angels to be part of it, so that whatever gifts are for the highest good be activated, and everything I am not supposed to do does not even show up. I said I have met a lot of people where, if it is not for the highest good, nothing happens.

There are levels, and they are earned. A gift activating does not mean all its levels are open. It is like a library card with many access points. You graduate through embodiment, vibration, practicing the principles, the love you hold. I have seen talented healers and psychics lose what they had when ego got in the way. Checks and balances.

With clients who know nothing about gifts, I said explain it as part of the process. Healing removes blocks from generational, gestational, traumatic life events, and environment, and after the blocks come the gifts: intuition, manifestation, vibration. In a package, maybe the fifth session is the activation. If you only have one session, you can ask, is it okay if I also work on any spiritual gifts you have? And get consent.

What it looks like at higher levels

Your mere auric field activates people. Your thinking about them activates them. Them hearing your voice, seeing you, your smile. Everything about you is activating other people at the highest levels.

You decode gifts faster. You have the capacity to activate and tap into a lot of the gifts faster, because that is what you do. Over time, a lot of the gifts you put attention on you can probably decode and access. There is still the vibrational piece; you still have to work on your vibration. But it is faster for you, you understand gifts better, and you reach a depth others sometimes cannot understand.

Steps disappear. I told the story of Sedona years ago, before I had come out as a spiritual activator. I was supporting Mandy, sitting in the back listening to hip hop, literally an Excel sheet and Eminem, nothing spiritual. On a break she came up and said someone was having an energy meltdown, could I help. I was irritated. I was not prepared, I was not in the right vibration. It was about fifteen steps from the table to that person, and by the time I got there everything was ready, as if I had cut cords, cleared, done the gold. I did not do the steps consciously. I had done it so much it was internalized. When you are called to it, ten thousand steps can happen in one second.

And I said that nowadays I do not do any prep before an event. I used to do a lot: cutting cords, going up, doing gold, surrounding myself with angels. Now I walk in, and even if I am off in the first minute, I know that as words flow through my mouth, energy flows through. When you do the work enough, it becomes part of you, and it shows up before you even know you need it. It is like building a house over two, three, four years. Once it is built you maintain it. You do not rebuild it every day.

Questions students ask

Does it work on animals? Mentor Kimberly said yes. We have soul contracts with the animals in our lives too.

What if people around me get agitated? It is your field activating them. Love, and seed context when they are high.

Can I activate someone without meaning to? Not someone who is not ready.

How do you know someone's gift when you activate them? For me it pops in, the first thing, and it is more Akashic.

Do you prepare before you serve? I used to. Now it shows up on its own.

Stories from the room

A spiritual activator was told in the past that in another life her hands were cut off for doing healing work. During the spirals she was plugged in, still vibrating long after. Her wrists cracked and she kept slamming them, and her hands felt teeny tiny, and she had to reconnect them. The group, to her, looked like a beehive full of little octahedrons.

Another, the same day, saw eyes everywhere, animal and human, and her breath was blown out of her mouth on its own, her head and mouth shaking. When she did the group, the container looked like it was drawn in white crayon, and she felt like she was throwing candy down to everyone in GEO 2.

A GEO 1 healer with spiritual activator said Jesus came to her during the attunement, the third time in her life, the first as a small child, the second around thirty, and now at fifty eight. She asked forgiveness for turning her back on him because she had learned God was judging, and she saw it is people who judge, not God. He asked her to help people who feel alone. Three weeks earlier she had gotten the message to build a course for people who are dying.

And a psychic who got spiritual activator said she activates people very easily, and was getting dreams and remote viewing of a missing girl in her town, a sense of hurry up and find me, but not enough to find her. I told her gifts very rarely show up complete. Think of yourself as an energetic detective. Not everything comes on day one. It comes in puzzle pieces, and the story is not done yet. God, higher power, universe, if I am supposed to know, make it abundantly clear, and otherwise everything coming up is practice and training. Different gifts we want are often on the other side of surrender and detachment.

Part Three: Reference

The nine master gifts side by side

	Where it comes from	What it feels like	When it is unexpressed	Reveal practice	What it looks like at the top
World Healers	Beyond the world, above; the psychic third eye connects you to who you heal	Feeling world events in the body; never feeling at home anywhere; a heart that only fully opens for the world	Heartache to physical pain; a closed heart; restlessness	Purple light up as far as you can go; bask; send love and world healing to the container	Running hundreds of millions of volts in a healing; manifesting from that vibration; universal healing
Elementals	Earth, wind, fire, water, and ether; the elements' own Akashic	Hands in the dirt, body lighting up in forests and water; songs and light language from the elements	Too much time inside	Call each element by intention, notice which hits hardest, send it to the container	Mass healing through the elements everywhere; location and land healing
DNA Activators	The DNA, generational, gestational, karmic; channeled energy directed there	Healings that hit deeper and go to the root; people feel new sensations	Generational weight carried humanistically, backbreaking	Spirals in your perfect color on you, then into the container, freestyle	DNA resequencing ; DNA for everybody
Portal Openers	Crown for beyond this world; third eye for souls and Earth	Knowing across time; dreams of the dying; senses through portals; an enlarged third eye	Transmuting with your own energy until fatigue; open portals you do not know about	Open a portal for yourself, bask, close; then open one over the container	Helping souls cross; bringing sacred site potency; pulling a future reality close
Angelic Realm	The angelic and	Always guided;	Stagnation, doubt,	Angels in a circle around	Millions at a time through

	Where it comes from	What it feels like	When it is unexpressed	Reveal practice	What it looks like at the top
	archangel realm, plus the Earth	synchronicities and miracles; saving graces	sabotage in slow human environments	you, receive; then around the container	fractal technology; clearing and guarding places
Mother Nature Embodiers	Deep within the Earth; the Akashic of Earth	Feeling the Earth's pain; drawn to herbs, sacred sites, animals	Heaviness without context	Roots to the ball of light at the center of the Earth; send it up into the container	The energetic pharmacy; advanced transmuting; clearing continents and lands
Lemurian Energy	Lemuria as a state and a dimension; rainbow and gold	Love is who you are; healing by presence, touch, gaze, voice	Homesick sadness; pain from feeling disconnected	Light up with the three count breath, seven to fourteen cycles; bask; share	Instant healing, manifesting at the speed of thought, no steps
Projectors	You as a crystal; often gold in the energy	Level ten in everything; told you are too much; people's gifts magnify around you	Pressure cooker; depletion from lending energy	Raise white, purple, gold by intention; raise your best color in the container	Housing the energy of thousands; experiencing others' gifts; weather and electronics
Spiritual Activators	The Akashics and the DNA	People activate, heal, manifest, and get lucky around you	Information overload; people purging around you	Spirals on you to unlock your master and primary gifts; then spirals into the container	Activating by thought, voice, smile; decoding gifts; no steps needed

What the books add

My books, Spiritual Activator and Do This Before Bed, touch two of these gifts. They list projector as a more advanced gift connected to remote healing, sending energy outward at a distance. They describe spiritual activator, my own gift, as gift number eight and a GEO 2 gift: being around one turns on the dormant gifts in other people, at a distance too, which is why this work scales. I do not just heal individuals. I turn on healers.

And one thing I said in a group session ties right into world healers: transmuters and world healers are empaths. To clear or heal something they feel it, and it is vibration based. In the vibration of being a clear vessel for the highest good, you do not feel it. In a vibration of fear, you feel everything. It holds you to a higher standard.

Where my own descriptions differ across the years

I teach live and I channel while I teach, so some things have been said more than one way. Here is each version with its date.

My first gifts. “The first ones I stepped into were spiritual activator and projector” (January 2023, master gifts). The GEO 1 handbook records “when I first started out it was definitely Healer” (October 2025) and “the very first was Transmuter, shortly followed by Hands on Healer” (January 2026). The 2023 answer is about master gifts and the later ones are about primary gifts, so they may describe different things.

The elements. “Earth, wind, fire, water” (reveal recording, played July 2025 and January 2026). “Fire, wind, water, air” (January 2023, Day 5 P1). “Earth, wind, fire, water, ether” (January 2023, Day 5 P2).

How much a projector holds. “Some projectors can house the energy of 100 people” (reveal recording). “10, 100, 1,000, 10,000 people at once” (January 2023). “10, 100, 1,000, 10,000, 100,000, a million people’s energies” (June 2024).

What Lemuria is. “Lemuria is a consciousness now, it’s a state that you can access” (reveal recording). “More of a space and a state and a dimension more than a place. Maybe it used to be a place, but right now it’s a dimension” (October 2025).

Exploring other master gifts. “The one you got today is the only one you focus on right now, not the others” (January 2023). “After a few days, after a week, yeah, explore the other gifts” (July 2025). Master gifts shift after “3 to 4 months, 5 months, 1 month, a year” (August 2025).

DNA activators and gift activation. “There’s some intersection between spiritual activator and the DNA gift... it’s a little more manual with DNA” and DNA activators can get to gift activation (January 2023). “Not so much... it’s easier to get to the activation of gifts, but what is more prominent in the DNA is more the sensation, the feeling, the knowing” (October 2025).

Mother Nature embodimenters as transmuters. Not mentioned in 2023 and 2024. “Mother Nature embodimenters are advanced transmuters,” referenced by a student from a week 10 Q&A and confirmed (November 2025).

What the mentors add

Mentors Kimberly, Natasha, and Carol run the shares and much of the Q&A. Their notes are theirs, not mine.

Kimberly on primary and master gifts (January 2026): “your primary gift is the gift you’re born with. It’s your natural gift,” and the master gift is the one I activated, your strongest for now, and you can get more than one as you grow. Note that this differs from how I put it. I describe the primary as the one to focus on now and say the master gift has been there since birth.

Kimberly on her own gift: she was sure she was angelic realm and got elemental, and uses both.

Kimberly on DNA activators: you bring out untapped potential in others, and you use it innately inside other modalities like rainbow. You will know intuitively when.

Kimberly on spiritual activators: you can agitate people who are not ready, you know things quicker, and you will not activate anyone who is not ready. She also said I activated one of my sisters who writes things in a book and locks it in a chest. That is her account.

Kimberly on projectors: they do not realize their strength, things happen because they are there, and some feel anxiety with the intensity. She repeated my line that a projector is a walking Sedona.

Kimberly on portals: closing is simple. Metatron's Cube and the Sri Yantra for rainbow already open portals.

Kimberly on Mother Nature embodyers: you can connect with the Akashic records on Earth and will be guided on what to pull. Elementals have some access too, but Mother Nature is strongly connected to it.

Kimberly on practice: do healings on ten different people rather than ten on one person. Doing the reveal exercise as often as you like strengthens the gift; with family, get permission. Autistic children are very sensitive to energy work. Water is a conduit, and the more energy work you do, the thirstier you get.

Natasha (January 2026): primary transmuter, master world healer. It took her a minute, then it made so much sense.

Carol (January 2026): primary transmuter, master portal opener. She opens a portal in every healing for angels, beings of light and love, and Ascended Masters to come down, and closes everything above her head every night before bed.

How to use this handbook

1. Read Part One once, start to finish.
2. Read your own chapter twice, once for recognition, once with a pen.
3. Give it a few days to a week before you read the other eight.
4. Do the reveal practice every day, morning and before sleep, and run the two halves: yourself first, then the energetic body.
5. Practice with others who share your gift. Groups amplify.
6. Keep doing what already works and stack the master gift onto it.
7. Judge by results, not by fireworks.
8. When something old comes up, ask when it started. It is coming up because it is ready.
9. When another master gift shows up, notice it, and keep the one you were given in focus.
10. More love makes everything easier.

Builder's Note

This page is not in Oliver's voice. It is the record of how the handbook was assembled, so every line above can be traced.

What this handbook was built from

Everything in Parts One through Three is drawn from twenty three GEO 2 recordings in this project, dated January 2023 through April 2026. Every file labeled .docx turned out to be plain text or WebVTT captions. No OCR was needed.

The core is the recorded gift reveal, which carries the definition and practice of all nine gifts. Its numbering and wording are identical in the July 2025 and January 2026 files, and it was read once. Also read in full:

- the June 2024 gift Q&A,
- the January 2026 gift Q&A,
- the April 2026 Day 5 lesson,
- the January 2023 Day 5 Q&As,
- the June 2023 Day 4 teaching on spiritual activation,
- the January 2026 and July 2025 Day 5 shares and Q&As.

The remaining sessions were mined around every gift name:

- the February 2024 and January 2025 virtual event Q&As,
- the May 22, August 14, October 28, and November 5, 2025 calls,
- the January 2026 Day 3 Q&A.

Some recordings were duplicates or outside GEO 2. The January 15 P2 file is a second transcription of the November 5, 2025 call. The January 15 P1 file opens with the end of that same call, then becomes a GEO 3 origins session and an EME coaching Q&A, so nothing from it was used. Descriptions of GEO 3 content were left out everywhere under the tier rule.

Student names were removed. Mentors, Mandy, Oliver's family, and public figures are named as they were in the sessions. Where a recording cut off mid answer, that answer was left out rather than completed.

Dates were taken out of the teaching chapters so they read the way Oliver teaches. Every date is kept in Part Three under "Where my own descriptions differ across the years," and each teaching and story is tagged by session in the working notes behind this handbook.